Disaster Strikes High Over Rockies

Seven passengers were injured and one man died from heart attack when propeller on this airliner tore loose and ripped through fuselage. It happened 21,000 feet over Rockies 50 miles west of Denver, Colo., as DC-6 was en route from Los Angeles to New York with 52 passengers and five crewmen.—(NEA Photo)

Allies Advance As Reds Make Unexplained Shift

TOKYO (AP)—Allied forces beat back flank attacks on the Taegu front today and edged ahead into positions given up by a sudden and unexplained shifting of North Korean troops to the east.

A.P. correspondent Tom Lambert reported that the Communist movement away from Allied front lines, now 13 miles north of Taegu, reduced the immediate threat to the rail-head city.

The Reds appeared to be probing for a softer spot to hit with their five divisions on the central front.

Pressure by these 50,000 Reds diminished on the fifth day of bitter battling along the rocky corridor to Taegu.

U.S. and South Korean troops smashed four Red lunges in the five-day period.

The Reds were originally scheduled to capture Taegu Aug. 15—the anniversary of Korean liberation from Japan.

Under the same time-table the Reds were scheduled to end the war in victory by Aug. 31 on orders from Premier Kim Il Sung of North Korea.

Correspondent Lambert said South Korean troops, advancing eastward under Allied plane attacks, captured "The Citadel," a craggy, high ridge north of Taegu from which Communist observers had looked down on United Nations positions.

Other localized flank attacks, including two of company strength—about 200 men each—were repulsed.

RECORD DEFENCE BUDGET READY FOR PARLIAMENT

OTTAWA (CP)—A bill that will raise Canada's defence budget for this fiscal year to a record peacetime $570,000,000 or so will be presented to Parliament shortly as the first installment of the cost of the Dominion's expanded preparedness program.

The Defence Department, forced to rush because of the call for the special session to open Tuesday, is expected to present supplementary estimates that will fall just short of $150,000,000. The defence estimates so far approved for the year ending March 31, 1951, total $425,000,000.

The new total will not include the arms aid Canada now is proposing she give to her western European allies. That would be handled separately once its ramifications are clarified.

Unofficial estimates are that the 1951-52 fiscal year will see Canada's first $1,000,000,000 peacetime defence budget.

ported "decreasing enemy pressure" in the bloody mountain battlefield where in one 72-hour period 3,500 casualties were inflicted on the Reds.

Marine airmen said they killed 300 North Koreans Thursday in a rocket and staffing attack on heavy troop concentrations.

The U.S. Army chief of staff, Gen. J. Lawton Collins, visited the front Thursday. He returned to Tokyo optimistic, saying: "Things are coming along very well over there."

U.S. and South Korean troops beat off localized enemy infiltrating attacks on their flanks and continued their frontal thrust Thursday in the face of reduced Red artillery and mortar fire. This was the fifth day of continuous battle for the bloody "howling alley" corridor of the mountain passes.

An American attack Wednesday drove Communist infiltrators into the hills east of the main Kumhwa-Taegu road. The U.S. troops opened the highway after snipers had interrupted supply traffic for two days.

The Reds also appeared to be pulling back from the Waegwan area, 12 miles northwest of Taegu. They were quiet at a bridgehead across the Nakdong River near Hyonpung, 14 miles southwest of the rail hub.

The American 1st Cavalry Division facing the Waegwan area sent patrols across the river Thursday without meeting any opposition. The U.S. 24th Infantry Division guards the Nakdong front southwest of Taegu.

American 25th Infantry Division troops renewed an attack Thursday to win positions in the dominating Sobuk ridge on the Eastwestern front at the outer approaches to Pusan, main Allied harbor on the southeastern coast.

opening Of P.N.E. Hampered By Rain

VANCOUVER (CP)—Rain and cool weather hit attendance Wednesday at the opening of the Pacific National Exhibition.

Attendance was 35,962, down about 5,000 from last year when sunny skies greeted opening day crowds.

No Strike Break In Sight For Week

Cabinet Working On Plans; May Deal With Costs Of Living

Govt. Expected To Seize All U.S. Railroads

WASHINGTON (UP)—Government seizure of the nation's railroads appeared inevitable today to prevent a nation-wide rail strike from paralyzing the defence effort.

President Truman's seizure power loomed as the only weapon to head off the walkout of 250,000 trainmen and conductors which is scheduled to start at 6 a.m. local standard time Monday.

Mr. Truman, who has four days to act, may give some hint of his future action at a news conference today.

There was a good possibility that the President may make a personal plea to the unions to cancel their strike in the interest of national security or at least to postpone it to provide time for further mediation of the 17-month-old wage dispute.

But barring a sudden settlement—which railroad spokesmen regarded as "highly improbable"—seizure seemed to be the only way out. No one thought Mr. Truman would permit the strike to hamstring the national economy during the current international crisis.

The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railway Conductors announced their strike order Wednesday. Their walkout would idle all railway workers who traditionally respect each others' picket lines.

REQUEST REJECTED

The unions already have turned down two White House requests to call off five "tokens" strikes scheduled to run only this week. And the President's labor adviser, Dr. John R. Steelman, has failed to find a peace formula in more than two weeks' day and night negotiations with the unions and the carriers.

The national strike call came less than an hour after the latest White House talks collapsed. The signal for a walkout apparently was a surprise to both the White House and carriers.

Railroad spokesmen promptly accused the unions of "double dealing." They said they had been assured that "no further strikes were contemplated."

The two brotherhoods repeatedly have urged the White House to seize the carriers in order to avert a complete rail tie-up. They promised that their members would stay on their jobs if the government was to operate the lines.

While the government's intentions on the length of the session were not announced, there was one indication that it expected the business to be concluded in a month.

Pope Meets 40,000

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Pope Pius Wednesday granted a general audience to 40,000 Holy Year pilgrims at Saint Peter's Basilica.

Thet young parson Hills was sure agin' a lotta things in one speech—Mike Pearson, Claxton and the railway unions. 'Tother night I went to hear him preach on the subject "Sin." He was agin' 'dat, too.

I gotta hunch they're gonna call thet new baby Victoria.

Papers say that shift of B.C. Police to the Mounties is "proceeding smoothly." They're right. Thet's one of the smoothest shifts since we eased Daisy out o' the silo with bear grease.

OTTAWA (CP)—The government worked today on plans for getting the full weight of Parliament behind action to end the general rail strike as it awaited the Tuesday opening of an emergency session.

Present forecasts are that the strike will last at least one more week.

As the critical strike went into its third day, there was no direct government intervention in prospect before the opening of Parliament, with the administration standing by its decision to have the legislators share responsibility for any action.

What that action might be was still problematical.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, in announcing the opening date yesterday, said the cabinet had not yet taken the final decisions on the program of action it will lay before the Commons.

Its deliberations on the momentous issue, outcome of which may have a heavy bearing on future industrial relations in national industries such as the railways, went on today at a cabinet meeting called for 10:30 a.m.

Expectations were they would proceed at a continuation of the long recent series of special cabinet sessions right up until the opening of Parliament, provided there was no settlement in the meantime of the paralyzing walkout of 124,000 railway employees that started Tuesday morning.

Just before the scene shifted to Ottawa from Montreal, where negotiations were finally broken off, there were a few last-minute developments.

Union headquarters sent out to members across the country a brief resume of developments before and after the start of the strike Tuesday morning.

The railways also issued a statement explanatory of certain parts of the negotiations and mediation which preceded the strike.

Should the strike be called off before Parliament assembles, it is considered likely that the government will shelve temporarily any planned legislation to forestall future stoppages of this kind, leaving it for more deliberate action at a regular session.

No. 2 item on the Parliamentary agenda, the Prime Minister indicated to reporters after Wednesday's cabinet meeting, will be the measures to be taken to implement Canada's share in the United Nations' attempt to stem Communist aggression in Korea.

Defence generally will be dealt with at the session, but some reports have been current that legislation is planned to deal with the continued rise in the cost of living.

While the government's intentions on the length of the session were not announced, there was one indication that it expected the business to be concluded in a month.

Island To Get Supplies Over U.S. Border

VANCOUVER, B.C. (UP)—Essential supplies for Vancouver Island were being shipped in sealed Vancouver trucks across the U.S. border today to be ferried over from Anacortes, Wash.

Bill Rundle, trade official of Vancouver Board of Trade, today reports a fleet of Vancouver trucks on their way carrying vital goods to Victoria via the United States.

Rundle said the trucks are sealed at the Douglas border crossing by customs officers for the trip to Anacortes and on to Sidney and Victoria.

Three manifests accompany each truck and one is retained by customs officials.

Any commercial truck line is now permitted to ship goods in bond through the United States the Board of Trade official explained. However, the trucks must be capable of being sealed.

Bodies Float In Floods Of 'Quake Area

SHILLONG, India (Reuter)—Planes flying over a 1,000-square-mile flood area, centre of last week's big earthquake, have sighted human corpses floating with elephant carcasses in the flood waters.

A Reuter correspondent said the stench of dead humans, cattle, fish and wild animals forced his plane to climb higher several times.

The flood followed earthquakes which blocked and diverted rain-swollen rivers in the Ganges-Brahmaputra basin last week. The floods are the worst in 50 years. Four new shocks rocked the area Wednesday.

Indian transport planes today parachuted emergency food supplies to flood victims.

Action As Means Of Coping With Strike

OTTAWA (CP)—The government has obtained authority through order-in-council to mobilize and control all Canadian commercial aircraft as a means of coping with the present rail crisis, government officials disclosed today.

The order-in-council is expected to be made public tomorrow. The officials said it will not be placed into operation unless the rail strike tie-up causes a further deterioration of Canadian transportation facilities.

"We consider that so far Canadian commercial air lines are able to handle the situation without need of government controls," an official said. "However, if required, we are prepared to institute a system of control similar to the one we had in the Second World War."

The order-in-council also gives the government power to requisition aircraft and order them to any point in Canada as an emergency measure. Power to pass the order-in-council was obtained through the Aeronautics Act.

J. R. K. Main of Pincher Creek, Alta., the Transport Department's civil aviation official who handled the priority system in World War II, is again expected to take over administration of the system if and when brought into force.

He will co-ordinate his efforts, officials said, with representatives of Canadian commercial air lines under a committee to function from this capital.

Under the priority plan a person urgently requiring air passage and not being able to obtain it would be able to appeal directly to the commercial airline in his area. The airline would get in touch with the priority committee which would make a final decision on priority rating.

Soon To Be Freed

MUNICH, Germany (AP)—Hans Fritzsche, Nazi radio commentator and an important cog in Hitler's propaganda machine, probably will be released from a German prison Sept. 29, a Bavarian government spokesman said. Fritzsche, acquitted of war crimes at the Nuernberg trials, later was sentenced to nine years by a German denazification court.

He explained also that shortage of warehouse storage space might make it necessary to slow down operations.

A plant official of Sidney Roofing & Paper Co. Ltd. said that operations there would be all right until the end of this week, but problems might begin to develop then.

"We can still get a certain amount of material by water, but we will definitely be affected if the strike is prolonged," he said.

N. A. Tomlin, president and general manager of B.C. Cement Co. Ltd., reported his company's plant at Bamberton in a more favorable position than other industries.

ton Wednesday night and streetcars ran on a reduced schedule.

Western wheat farmers and Ontario peach producers all expected serious problems in marketing their crop without railway cars. In addition, a prolonged strike could stop the usual movement of eastern workers to the prairie harvest.

By the end of the week, nearly 14,000 coal miners in Nova Scotia, Alberta and B.C. might be laid off. So might nearly 8,000 auto workers in Oshawa and Hamilton, Ont.

Refinery workers in Trail, B.C., and Sudbury, Ont., packinghouse workers in scattered cities across the country, base metal miners at copper Mountain, B.C., and hundreds of flour-mill workers were laid off.

Other heavy industries said they would have to close down when present stocks of raw materials ran out or when warehouses overflowed.

WOUNDED ON PATROL

'Thought Game Was Up' Says Churchill's Son

U.S. 8TH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea (BUP)—Randolph Churchill, son of Britain's wartime prime minister, said today he "didn't really have panic in my belly, but I thought the game was up for a moment" when wounded by enemy mortar fire.

The 39-year-old newspaper correspondent, son of Winston Churchill, was wounded in the right leg Wednesday night when he accompanied an American patrol across the Nakdong River into enemy lines in the moonlight.

Shrapnel exploding 15 feet away dug a hole the size of a half dollar near the shinbone of his right leg and buried a splinter in his right foot.

The same burst of enemy mortar fire wounded Frank Emery, International News Service correspondent, in the left side, thigh and left foot.

Churchill and Emery were able to make it back across the Nakdong and were treated at a forward aid station. Their wounds, though ugly ones, were described as not serious.

200 Made Idle By Shutdown At James Island

Canadian Industries Limited explosive works on James Island will shut down Friday night until such time as the Canadian rail strike is ended, Walter S. Thatcher, manager, announced today.

About 200 men will be laid off as a result of the shutdown. Only a small supervisory crew will be kept working. The entire operating crew will be sent home until the strike is over.

"We have no other alternative," Mr. Thatcher said. "We're hooked both ways by this strike. We can't get materials in and we can't ship our product out."

Possibility that other local industries may be similarly affected if the strike is prolonged was seen today.

An official of the British American Paint Co. Ltd. said that operations at that plant will likely continue without interruption for about 10 days but after that a shortage of necessary materials may force curtailment of production.

He explained also that shortage of warehouse storage space might make it necessary to slow down operations.

A plant official of Sidney Roofing & Paper Co. Ltd. said that operations there would be all right until the end of this week, but problems might begin to develop then.

"We can still get a certain amount of material by water, but we will definitely be affected if the strike is prolonged," he said.

N. A. Tomlin, president and general manager of B.C. Cement Co. Ltd., reported his company's plant at Bamberton in a more favorable position than other industries.

Meat By Trucks Builds Up Stocks

Supplies Reach Victoria From

While the quantity of meat in cold-storage plants here is dwindling and is already at a low level, new supplies of meat are beginning to trickle into the city and there is hope the amount coming in will be increased by the end of the week.

Red Division Moving In New Pusan Threat

TOKYO (AP)—A heavily-armed Red Korean division rolled eastward Thursday night toward American positions on the Korean south coast, posing a new threat to the Allied port of Pusan, some 50 miles away.

The threat appeared in the south after pressure had eased on the central front north of Taegu, where feelers for five Red divisions were thrown back for five consecutive days.

Reuters news agency reported that American and South Korean troops had advanced in limited attacks at both ends of the front. The Communists were shoved back west of Masan, near the south coast, and northwest of Taegu, the agency said.

U.S. planes bombed and strafed the approaching Reds in the south. The Communists were moving in small groups to minimize their chances of being hit from the air.

The sudden, unexplained shift of North Korean troops north of Taegu left their mountain positions to allied troops, 13 miles north of the fortress city. Before settling in them Thursday night U.S. and South Korean infantrymen beat off flanking attacks.

East German Forces Said Developing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Russia is believed here to be pushing ahead well-laid plans for the political and military development of eastern Germany while Western leaders negotiate on strengthening the defences of their sector.

Informed diplomats said today there now is evidence that the Russians have split their so-called "police force" in Germany into two organizations—one being trained in actual police work and the other being given regular army training and armored equipment without further pretence of "police" activity.

Since Germany, like Korea, is a divided nation, there is top-level speculation that the aim of this move may be an ultimate Korean-type assault; that is, an action by native Communist troops against the Western occupation zones with unification of the country as a fighting slogan.

CABINET TO MEET RAIL DISPUTANTS

St. Laurent Calls Union, Company Leaders
To Ottawa Friday For Personal Conferences

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent today called in major figures in the railway wage dispute for personal conferences with himself and ministers Friday.

An announcement from the Prime Minister's office said he would meet union and railway chiefs separately in his office Friday morning and afternoon.

'Mercy Train' To Take Food To Mine Town

MONTREAL (CP)—Frank Hall, speaking on behalf of a joint rail strike committee, said today one train a week will be allowed to carry food supplies to the northern Ontario mining town of Atikokan.

Mr. Hall said the committee has authorized the sending of "food, milk and medical supplies" from Port Arthur provided the train returns empty. Atikokan has no road or air connections.

Loading and unloading of the train will be supervised by local strike committee, Mr. Hall said.

TAKEN BY SURPRISE

Truman Says Unions Promised No Strike

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Truman told a news conference today that the railroad unions called a nation-wide strike for Monday after giving the White House definite assurance that they wouldn't.

The President admitted in his weekly news conference that the strike call took him by complete surprise. He would not speculate on what action he might take to prevent it, although government seizure of the roads seemed to be his most likely course.

The chief executive told reporters that up until one hour before the strike call was issued late Wednesday, he had definite assurances from the unions and the railroad management that there would not be a strike.

The strike call was issued against all class one railroads—those with an annual volume of business over $1,000,000. A national mediation board official said the unions probably could keep "every wheel from rolling" even on smaller roads by picketing of terminals.

The same official said there was almost no chance that the President would try to head off the strike with a simple injunction. He said in his recollection the government had never sought a no-strike injunction against a rail strike without first seizing the roads.

Split Authority Brings Danger Of Bad Government

SASKATOON (CP)—Divided jurisdiction between cities and their outlying areas is raising a threat of bad civic government, a Toronto planner told the Canadian mayors' conference here.

Eric Hardy, director of the citizens' research institute, said two important changes were necessary: The central city boundaries should be widened to take in the solidly-urban surrounding area and a regional authority should be established with jurisdiction for conservation and planning of the metropolitan area.

Rail Strikers Make Offer To Negotiate

Chinese Reds Demand U.S. Quit Formosa

Announce Intent
To Take Island

TOKYO (AP)—The Chinese Communists today (Friday) demanded that the United Nations order withdrawal of all American forces from Formosa and announced the Red intention to "liberate" that island from the Nationalists.

The statement by the Peiping radio was heard by the Associated Press in Tokyo. It said the demand for American withdrawal was sent by Chinese Communist Foreign Minister Chou En-lai to the U.N. Security Council and Secretary-General Trygve Lie.

The U.S. has no armed forces in Formosa, last major redoubt of the Chinese Nationalists, but the U.S. 7th Fleet is patrolling the Formosa Strait to prevent an often-threatened Red attack.

"The people of China cannot tolerate the action of armed aggression by the U.S. government on the territory of China," the radio quoted Chou's message to the U.N.

It went on to cite the presence of the 7th Fleet and of some U.S. air force contingents on Formosa.

Chou charged that the American presence was "an open encroachment on the territory of the People's Republic of China" (the official name of the Red regime).

Reds' March Into Tibet Unconfirmed

LONDON (UPI)—Official British sources said today they had no confirmation of an Aug. 14 broadcast from Peiping saying the Chinese Communists had entered Tibet.

Foreign Office sources disclosed that the broadcast was heard by British monitors. It said Communist units had crossed the border from the Chinese province of Tsinghai and were welcomed warmly.

About 10 days ago reports from Hongkong, credited to Chinese mainland sources, said an invasion of Tibet had begun. Those reports never were substantiated.

A flurry of excitement was touched off today when the Pakistan radio heard in New Delhi quoted a Chinese Communist broadcast as saying the Communists had entered Tibet. The wording of the Pakistan broadcast, however, indicated it was only now catching up with the Aug. 14 broadcast.

British officials said that so far as was known the Peiping radio had made no mention of a Tibetan invasion since Aug. 14.

Premier Jawaharlal Nehru said in New Delhi that Communist China and Tibet might open talks in New Delhi soon on the Communist claim to sovereignty over Tibet.

CHICOUTIMI, Que. (CP)—Three persons were killed and five injured in a collision between an automobile and a truck early today. The dead, all Quebecers: Aime Lamontagne, 17; Liette Mercier, 22, and Angeline Couillard, 24.

Their Trip To Korea Called Off

Bitter at eleventh-hour rejection for service in Canada's special force for Korea are Ted Oakman, left, and Robert Mason. They had passed tests and expected to be in uniform today.

Volunteers Resentful At Last-Minute Rejection

Two strapping young men are glum and resentful today because they have been turned down after passing the tests for the Canadian army special brigade for Korea as the result of an 11th-hour order—"filled up."

They are Edgar Oakman, 33, of 2082 Haultain Street, a signal corps overseas veteran in World War II, and Robert G. Mason, Duncan, 23.

They expected to leave for Vancouver today to be sworn in. In effect, they had been told they were "in" and arranged their private affairs accordingly.

Mason is a railway engineer with the E. & N. He got leave of absence. Oakman quit his job at the Hudson's Bay Co. after giving a week's notice.

"It's all very embarrassing," they said.

Going-away parties were given for both of them. They received present. Oakman was still smoking his. Mason said he at least had one thing left—a fountain pen—that could be returned.

"Boy, this is going to be the quickest welcome-home party on record," said Oakman with a wry smile.

Although the government has made it law, special force members must get their jobs back after discharge. Mason and Oakman, according to their stories, had done a pretty thorough job of burning their bridges behind them.

Mason even went as far as to sell his railway watch and wound up his insurance policy. "I'm glad I didn't go to the extent of selling my car," he said.

Oakman said he had settled everything to leave today. "Having gone as far as they did they should have at least taken us in an reinforcement strength," he said.

Union Steamship Tie-up Would Isolate 15,000

VANCOUVER (CP)—More than 15,000 British Columbians in almost 100 harbors, lumber camps and fishing villages along the northern coast will be isolated if the strike against Union Steamships comes off Friday noon.

The Seafarers' International Union (A.F.L.) announced Wednesday it will strike on the line's seven ships if no contract agreement is reached by Friday. The union seeks a $30 monthly wage increase.

Canadian National and Canadian Pacific fleets already are tied up by the rail strike.

After Friday, if the strike takes place, there will be virtually no meat, vegetables or fresh milk available for families in the coastal settlements.

Several communities on the Arrow and Kootenay Lakes in the interior already are isolated by the stoppage of C.P.R. Lake Boats, the only link with supply centres.

STRIKE LAYOFFS IN B.C. SOAR TO AT LEAST 2,800

VANCOUVER (CP)—At least 2,800 workmen were idle today in British Columbia as the national rail strike crimped harder into industry.

The total broke down like this:
At Ladysmith on Vancouver Island, 350 coal miners unemployed.

At Copper Mountain near Penticton, 850 hard-rock miners out.

At Victoria and Vancouver, 700 seamen idle and 200 truckers usually handling rail consignments.

At Trail, 100 Cominco employees laid off.

At Prince George in the northern interior, 200 construction workers off.

Throughout the lower mainland and Vancouver Island area, 400 loggers idle.

Joint Group Sets Policy For Meeting

OTTAWA (CP)—A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (C.B.R.E.) said today union negotiators for 124,000 striking rail workers are willing to resume negotiations with the companies under mediation.

Mr. Mosher said this policy had been determined by the joint negotiating committee for 15 international and two Canadian unions by telephone consultation between negotiating officers here and in Montreal.

He said it would be agreeable to the unions to resume negotiations with the help of Dr. W. A. Mackintosh, the government-appointed mediator whose efforts failed just before the Tuesday morning general strike deadline.

"Or anyone else," he added. The C.B.R.E. president said the unions would insist that any resumed negotiations must be joint ones—that is, that the whole 17 unions would negotiate collectively and no group of unions would hold separate discussions with the companies.

He said he did not know the attitude of the railways toward getting talks started up again before the convening of next Tuesday's emergency session of Parliament called to deal with strike legislation.

At the conclusion of the unsuccessful negotiations in Montreal early Tuesday morning, the attitude of the unions had been that they would resume negotiations but that the first move would have to be made by the railways.

Strike May Halt R.C.N.'s Shipbuilding

OTTAWA (BUF)—The navy's ship construction program will grind to a halt within a week if the nation-wide strike is not ended, naval headquarters said today.

Anti-submarine vessels are being built at Montreal, Halifax and Vancouver. The minesweepers are under construction at Saint John, N.B., Lauzon, Que., Port Arthur, Ont., and Victoria, B.C. The navy is having a gate vessel built at Lauzon and an ice-breaker at Sorel, Que.

The navy spokesman also said the work of reactivating all destroyed on reserve would be delayed by the strike.

The navy's decision to place destroyers on active sea duty was announced by Vice Admiral H. T. W. Grant, Chief of Naval Staff.

Meanwhile, a spokesman for the Canadian Commercial Corporation, the government's chief purchasing agency, said "no great difficulty is expected" in meeting the procurement needs of the army's special force for Korea.

"We are making arrangements for the transportation of urgently needed special items by truck and air," he said.

Leaving For Ottawa

MONTREAL (CP)—Frank Hall, negotiating head of 15 unions, said he will leave tonight for Ottawa to meet with Prime Minister St. Laurent along with other union heads.

ONE WOMAN'S DAY

By NANCY HODGES

QUINTS AND QUARRELS

IT SO HAPPENS that I haven't seen a recent issue of the Feathered Times, or whatever is the name of the journal in which the social doings in birdland are recorded, but if there is such a publication I am sure its "Hatched, Matched and Dispatched" columns must have had one or two items of interest to bird-lovers recently.

For instance, the Hatched column might well have carried this notice: "To Mr. and Mrs. Runnymede Quail Jr.—the gift of quintuplets, at the Hodges' private maternity home on August 15, 1950. Ma, Pa and the family all doing well—at the Hodges' expense."

PROUD PAPA

THE DATE MAY not be quite right; but when Pa and Ma proudly appeared last Saturday, while we were lazing in the garden, to show us their tiny progeny we figured, from the size of the babies that they couldn't be much more than a few days old.

These products of the mating of one of our younger love-lorn couples were not much more than an inch and a half all told, from beaktip to tip. And as they pecked vigorously away in the newly-mown lawn, they were scarcely visible over the tips of the grass. But they scurried around and kept up with Pa and Ma with a celerity which was amusing as well as enchanting, while their efforts to scuttle up the rocks was funny enough for a Walt Disney film!

LARGE FAMILY

THIS LATEST addition brings our quail tenants up to 44. And just as we had watched the latest of the newest mites disappear with their parents, along came the rest of our big brood, trotting down the rocks hippety-hop, one after another, dropping down on to the lawn which seemed literally alive with the birds.

While the look-out remained on the highest rock, so still as to suggest that he, too, was carved out of rock, a couple of the younger topknots got into an argument—the first time I have ever seen signs of bad feeling among the quail clan.

FEUDIN' AND FUSSIN'

WITH A ROCK as the arena, they went to it in great style, pecking and flying at each other, to the obvious consternation of some of the older birds. Suddenly something alarmed the whole covey—what it was we couldn't make out—but they started uttering their curious warning cry, then flew wildly in all directions, combatants included.

Some of them made for the cypress trees in which they nightly roost, and that was when the tragedy happened which I think would have been recorded in the Feathered Times as: "On Aug. 19, 1950, Topknot Jr., beloved son of Mr. and Mrs. Hodges Quail, accidentally killed. Burial in the family plot in the raspberry patch. No mourning, by request."

SAD REFLECTION

FOR THE YOUNG BIRD in question, in his fright, went head first into our kitchen window. We heard the soft thud and my husband immediately investigated but found the poor little fellow breathing his last. When he had gasped his little life away, he was decently buried. But while we mourned his passing, there was no visible evidence of mourning among his brothers and sisters, who soon got over their fright and came back to resume their feeding operations.

Speaking of operations, the bird bath is a popular rendezvous for the birds these days. Oddly enough, quail don't seem to drink or bathe—publicly, at any rate.

BATHING BELLIGERENTS

BUT EVERY DAY is bath day with the robins. I don't know whether it is the hot weather, but business at our bird-bath has been booming—so much so, that the robins have been queuing up in the adjacent oaks and on the grass, impatiently waiting a chance to get in.

Two of the older birds took possession of the bath, after warily sizing each other up. One would "whoosh" and splash and cock an eye at the other, as much as to say: "I dare you to—!" Whereupon the other, keeping a wary eye on his rival, would go one better. Finally, the bigger bird looked around from his ablutions, and I could almost hear him saying: "You've sneaked my soap, you so-and-so!" Then the scrap was on, and water flew in all directions. So did the other birds—only to come back and take possession of the bath while the scrappers were otherwise engaged.

Strike Cuts Displays On City Newsstands

Canadian magazine circulation will be hard hit by the rail strike. Magazine wholesalers here say weekly Canadian newspapers such as Star Weekly and Montreal Standard and magazines such as Macleans and New Liberty will not likely be available next week or during successive weeks until the national transportation tie-up ends.

U.S. magazines are getting through at present although if U.S. railwaymen carry out their threatened strike for Monday, many of these publications would be cut off too.

Newspapers and news magazines will get through in any event as they are carried by plane.

LONG BRANCH, N.J. (AP) — Wedding bells rang Wednesday night for Morris Herman and Laura Colby. He's 74 and she's 70 years old. About 35 members of the couple's family attended the reception at a hotel here owned by Herman's daughter. The bride and groom plan to fly to Florida for a honeymoon.

Frog 'Suicide' No Great Loss

The unusual never fails to attract attention, even if it is only a lowly frog. Danny Ogilvie of Nanaimo reports finding a brilliant turquoise blue frog at Kwai Lake in the Forbidden Plateau. He was keeping the frog to send to the Provincial Museum when it jumped into the camp fire. The finder claims it was suicide. Museum officials say the loss is not great as it was only a tree frog.

WITH THE FORCES

After War Work Assurance For Men Joining Special Brigade

By ROY THORSEN

Canadian Press confirmed today that the Canadian Government has made it law that all those leaving jobs to join the special brigade must be given their jobs back on discharge. That applies to government and private enterprise, same as when service personnel were discharged in 1945-46. Some veterans, especially civil servants, wanted this assurance before getting into uniform again.

Conscription talk is being banded about again. Canadian Legion is going to act as a sounding board on the proposal of peacetime call-up so that the country will be better prepared in the event of another national emergency.

Present requirement for the Canadian Army special force for Korea or elsewhere, as the U.N. wishes, has been filled except for some special categories.

Recruiting Sgt. J. W. Taylor, at Work Point, said word came from Army H.Q. yesterday to call off recruiting for this force. He is still looking for a few specialized tradesmen, however.

Since the campaign started here about two weeks ago, more than 100 men were tested. Most were passed on for final examination in Vancouver. Quite a number were rejected at the outset for varied reasons. It is not known here how many passed from this area. Those not with special trade qualifications tested in the last few days will not make the grade.

"We are now stepping up recruiting for the permanent force," he said. Those eligible for active must be between 18 and 29 years of age. You can get in at 17 with parents' consent. They can't qualify if married. During the last few days the sergeant reported an increase in the young men who want to make the army their career.

Congratulations to Saanich Council in recognizing a responsibility to keep Tillicum Army Camp open to families of war veterans who can't afford the high rents on the open market. There seems to be a "we don't want to touch it" attitude in most quarters when the Citizens' Rehabilitation Council packs up its role as landlord at the end of next month.

Sixty-two medical undergraduates with a yen for far-away places and army life have solved their personal summer employment problem by serving as interns in military hospitals across the country. They'll go back to school in the fall.

A Joint Services Selection Board is meeting to consider 160 applications of high school students in Canada to attend Royal Military College at Kingston, Ont., or Royal Roads at Esquimalt. Senior matriculation results are perused at National Defence Headquarters and successful candidates are to be notified immediately.

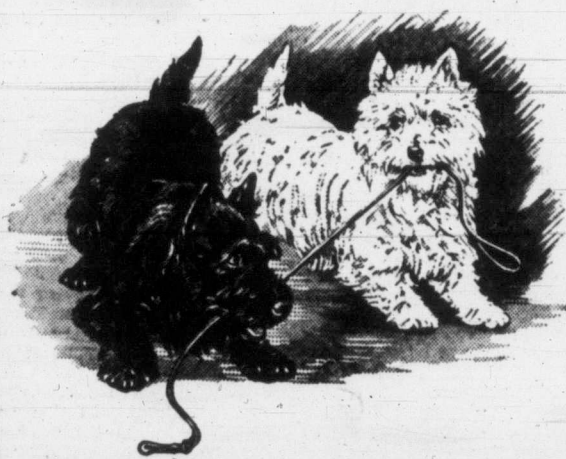

Four nursing sisters of the Royal Canadian Navy Reserve are taking a fortnight's training at the R.C.N. hospital at Halifax. Army Survey Establishment, R.C.E., commanded by Lt.-Col. C. H. Smith of Ottawa, is the most widely-scattered unit in the Canadian Army Active Force. It is responsible for preparation and production of all army maps. Unit this year has 12 field survey parties working some of the lesser-known regions of the country—from Stephenville, Nfld., to the Nahanni River section of the Northwest Territories.

Ask Reserve Of Lots For Highway Route

PORT ALBERNI—This city has been asked by L. J. Moore, right-of-way agent for the provincial government, to reserve from sale seven blocks in the area bounded by Redford Street, Wallace Street and 16th Avenue.

Believing the request indicates an early start on the new highway route into Port Alberni, the city granted permission.

F. L. Kitch, city clerk brought to council a recommendation to cancel present subdivision plans and submitted new plans to conform with the route of the new highway.

G.I.'s In Korea Think Of Winter

Talk Of Cold Weather Clothing Heard As Victory Long Way Off

By HARRY FERGUSON

United Press Foreign News Editor

Anybody optimistic enough to believe that the war is going to be over in a few weeks might be interested in this note that has just arrived from Korea:

"More and more the G.I.'s are talking about what they are going to wear when winter sets in. They are pretty well convinced they still are going to be fighting when cold weather starts. Right now the temperature goes up to 90 or higher almost every day."

Secretary of Defence Louis Johnson has risked a guess that the war may be over in late winter or early spring.

But, if Communist China should decide to rush to the aid of the North Koreans, the war probably would last for years. If Stalin sent in Russian planes and pilots, our supremacy in the air would be challenged and our victory delayed.

THREE PHASES

When this war is over historians probably will say there were three main phases of it. Right now we are about half way through the second phase.

1. The grim opening weeks of the conflict when the South Korean army was fleeing before the Communist tanks and the U.S. 24th Division was thrown into battle with insufficient training and inadequate weapons.

2. The stabilization of the present defence line. We threw a quick punch at the Communists who were moving along the south coast toward Pusan and then aligned our troops in roughly the present battle positions.

3. This phase is in the future. It will arrive when our high command has softened up the Communist supply lines and munitions depots with heavy air

Government's Plans To Meet Tense International Situation Reported

OTTAWA (CP)—Dominion and provincial officials meeting here to study civil defence today heard a series of reports from high government officials on the tense international situation and the government's proposals to meet it.

A. D. P. Heene, Under-Secretary of State for External Affairs, reported on the international picture while Lt. Gen.

Charles Foulkes, chief of the general staff, dealt with its military aspects.

Inspector W. Dick of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police told of plans for protection against sabotage at vital points across the country.

The conference was started behind closed doors shortly after 10 a.m., with Defence Minister Claxton and Justice Minister Carson heading the federal delegation and all 10 provinces represented.

It is expected to last two days and to clear the way for the provinces to co-operate with the municipalities in building up local organizations to cope with the effects of modern war.

Bodies Float In Floods Of 'Quake Area'

SHILLONG, India (Reuter)—Planes flying over a 1,000-square-mile flood area, centre of last week's big earthquake, have sighted human corpses floating with elephant carcasses in the flood waters.

A Reuter correspondent said the stench of dead humans, cattle, fish and wild animals forced his plane to climb higher several times.

The flood followed earthquakes which blocked and diverted rain-swollen rivers in the Ganges-Brahmaputra basin last week. The floods are the worst in 50 years. Four new shocks rocked the area Wednesday.

Indian transport planes today parachuted emergency food supplies to flood victims.

Army Of 250,000 In East Germany

Gives Reds' Total Armed Force Of 320,000 Facing W Europe

FRANKFURT (AP)—Allied officials reported today that training camps for Russia's elite East German Army have been increased from 11 to 50 in less than six months.

This vast expansion indicates that the Russians intend to build a huge new "Red Wehrmacht" around this Communist armed force, the officials said.

This East-German force of 50,000 men has been trained as a cadre for a larger German army taking orders from Russia, they said. The officials gave this assessment of developments:

The dark-uniformed, jack-booted force could easily be expanded to 150,000 men, perhaps in a matter of weeks, with the increase in training facilities.

Officers and non-coms will be used to train troops just as Hitler built his Wehrmacht around the professional Reichswehr.

Already the 50,000-man East German army gives Russia a combined Russian-German combat force of 320,000 men facing the west in Eastern Germany.

New equipment, including late-model tanks and jet planes, are flowing to the Red Army in East Germany. Some of it may be intended for the East German army.

However, no additional Soviet troops have been sent to Germany this year.

Reliable reports from inside Communist East Germany show that the East German army and all police number about 250,000.

These forces are divided into:

1. The 50,000-man Border Guard (Alert Units). This is the so-called East German Army, branded by the Western powers as an illegal Communist army created in violation of four-power agreements to keep the Germans disarmed.

2. 150,000 Volkspolizei (People's Police). This highly centralized force carries on traditional police functions, including secret police duties.

3. 50,000 other police assigned to guard borders, factories, waterways and railways.

The Allied officials added: In a war, only the Bereitschaften would move with the Red army. The "People's Police" would be left behind in East Germany to watch the population and protect the Russians' rear.

The Bereitschaften are receiving training in the use of mortars, tanks, anti-tank guns and artillery, but they have not been supplied in quantity with these weapons.

The Red army has enough material in East Germany to supply an offensive against the West without further stockpiling from Russia. The Russians now have more men, planes and tanks in Germany than all the Western powers have in Europe.

A recent Allied assessment of Russian military power in Europe underscores the belief of military experts that the Russians could sweep to the Atlantic coast if they decided to launch an attack. But there are no indications of an imminent assault from the east.

200 Made Idle By Shutdown At James Island

Canadian Industries Limited explosive works on James Island will shut down Friday night until such time as the Canadian rail strike is ended, Walter S. Thatcher, manager, announced today.

About 200 men will be laid off as a result of the shutdown. Only a small supervisory crew will be kept working. The entire operating crew will be sent home until the strike is over.

"We have no other alternative," Mr. Thatcher said. "We're hooked both ways by this strike. We can't get materials in and we can't ship our product out."

Possibility that other local industries may be similarly affected if the strike is prolonged was seen today.

An official of the British American Paint Co. Ltd. says that operations at that plant will likely continue without interruption for about 10 days but after that a shortage of necessary materials may force curtailment of production.

A plant official of Sidney Roofing & Paper Co. Ltd. said that operations there would be all right until the end of this week, but problems might begin to develop then.

"We can still get a certain amount of material by water, but we will definitely be affected if the strike is prolonged," he said.

N. A. Tomlin, president and general manager of B.C. Cement Co. Ltd., reported his company's plant at Bamberton in a more favorable position than other industries.

New Industrial Layoffs, Shortages Face Canada

By CANADIAN PRESS

Canada struggled today with spreading industrial layoffs and new possibilities of shortages, the result of a national railway and telegraph strike.

After two days of the strike, practically every Canadian had been touched in one way or another.

Thousands were temporarily out of work. Reduced payrolls would inevitably be felt by every section of the country.

Others, in isolated communities, were running short of some foods. Millions more found themselves with a reduced mail service and no telegraph communications.

Buses, air lines, truck companies and telephone systems struggled to try to keep up with the rush of new business.

Saskatchewan, dependent on coal for electric power, faced a power shortage as railway coal cars lay idle. Outdoor electric signs were turned off in Saskatchewan Wednesday night and street cars ran on a reduced schedule.

Western wheat farmers and Ontario peach producers all expected serious problems in marketing their crop without railway cars. In addition, a prolonged strike could stop the usual movement of eastern workers to the prairie harvest.

By the end of the week, nearly 14,000 coal miners in Nova Scotia, Alberta and B.C. might be laid off. So might nearly 8,000 auto workers in Oshawa and Hamilton, Ont.

Refinery workers in Trail, B.C., and Sudbury, Ont., packinghouse workers in scattered cities across the country, base metal miners at Copper Mountain, B.C., and hundreds of flour-mill workers were laid off.

Other heavy industries said they would have to close down when present stocks of raw materials ran out or when warehouses overflowed.

Fear Diphtheria Outbreak In North

HALIFAX (CP)—A diphtheria epidemic is feared in the tiny Labrador village of Davis Inlet, the R.C.A.F. reported today.

The report came from Goose Bay, from which a mercy mission was flown to the northern village of Hopedale Wednesday to bring to hospital a native woman who is seriously ill.

The Moravian Missionary at Hopedale reported an outbreak of diphtheria is feared at Davis Inlet, about 75 miles to the northwest, where several cases of sore throat were reported.

Hint Arson In Fire On Cruise Ship

TORONTO (BUP)—A mystery possibly connected with a Montreal vice probe, surrounded the death of one of six known victims of a fire aboard the cruise ship Quebec, the Toronto Globe and Mail said today.

Norman Shapiro, of the town of Mount Royal, Que., who died in the fire that gutted the Quebec, was to be called at a witness in Montreal's vice and gambling probe which opens next month.

Shapiro's wife and young son, Leonard, also died in the fire. A second son, Murray, survived. His trousers were covered with someone else's blood when he was taken from the ship, the Globe and Mail said in a dispatch from Montreal.

"There have been reports that the fire broke out simultaneously in five or six different spots on the ship, which was only 25 minutes from port," the newspaper said.

Quebec provincial police had tightened the secrecy of their investigation as an apparent result, the paper added.

Say Hall And Mosher

WHEN RAILROAD UNION LEADER Frank Hall says he does not expect the federal government "to bludgeon the railway employees into acceptance of any unfair settlement or to enact legislation which would have the same effect," he would seem to imply that only he and one or two others of his clan can say what the Canadian people may or may not have in the form of control over vital public services. And when President A. R. Mosher of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (C.B.R.E.) says that "it is not principle that we are fighting for" but "bread and butter and the opportunity to rest and relax and spend more time with our families" he seems to forget that the valiant men and women who hatched homes out of a wilderness were fighting for a principle. Had they not fought or co-operated with Nature in the raw, they would not have been able to get either bread or butter. These pioneers established and cultivated a community of interest; the principle which motivated their daily lives was, basically, one of give-and-take. Their hours of work, as a rule, were set by the sun and the elements. It is too much to hope, of course, that Messrs. Hall and Mosher recognize that their exalted positions in the union movement of the present day would not exist had it not been for the sacrifices made by the pioneers in the latter part of the 19th Century. Well, Hall and Mosher notwithstanding, nearly 14,000,000 Canadians are now wondering where their bread and butter are coming from—not about the time they may have for relaxation at a later date.

Many Called, But Few Chosen

MANY OF THE YOUNGER MEMBERS of the House of Commons at Ottawa, particularly those of the two major parties, have discharged their duties with outstanding ability. Liberal "Jimmy" Sinclair and Progressive Conservative "Dave" Fulton are names which instantly come to our mind as we consider potential leaders in the national forum. The mention of these two proponents of opposite political philosophies in the federal field, however, should not be confused with popular approval of those young men by whom Prime Minister St. Laurent, in his mature wisdom, has surrounded himself. Nor is it meant that either of these should arrogate to himself the right to think that in the not distant future his name will be put forth in national conventions as leader of his party.

Take the case of Edmund Davie Fulton, son of the late F. J. Fulton, K.C., a cabinet minister in the regime of the late Sir Richard McBride. When the First Great War was less than a year and a half old he was in swaddling clothes in his native Kamloops. Less than two decades later he had distinguished himself in the scholastic field. He got his education at St. Michael's School in Victoria, became a Rhodes Scholar, and won the federal seat of Kamloops in 1945, winning it again in the general election last year. But, we suggest, Mr. Fulton is trying to force the pace of the Dominion Government when he calls for compulsory military training now at a time when the appeal for volunteers to serve under the United Nations, in Korea or elsewhere, seems to be meeting with commendable success.

The moral here is that youthful enthusiasm, youthful ambition, and youthful inspiration would pay bigger and better dividends if tempered with an appropriate understanding of the realities of these times. It is not our business, of course, if young Mr. Fulton—who will deliver a speech in the House of Commons at the slightest provocation—does not see eye to eye with his Progressive Conservative leader George Drew. But the member for Kamloops might well borrow some of the calm wisdom of his late parent. His father's general policy was to use a colloquialism—not to shoot until he could see the whites of an enemy's eyes. He fell out with the regime in this province of his day because he did not agree with the railway policy of the Premier and his colleagues in the cabinet. He had the courage to say so.

Keep Ambulances Off The Roads

THE U.S. NATIONAL SAFETY COUNCIL, in a recent bulletin, states that "Labor Day threatens to pile up the biggest accident toll in its history." It bases that statement on the accident totals reported for other holidays in the United States this summer and the increase they have shown over the mortality rates for similar events in other years.

The National Safety Council cites American figures. A survey of corresponding conditions in Canada leaves no room for complacency. In this country and in this region the threat of Labor Day, 1950, is just as grave. That is so because the day, which is usually considered the windup of the summer holidays, brings heavy traffic onto the roads for trips to and from resorts. The heavier traffic, the greater the accident potential. In addition to that, the carefree holiday mood too often turns into a careless driving mood, frequently made more dangerous by alcoholic depressants. What applies to Labor Day this year also applies to the fine weather week-ends which have been encouraging a large volume of our citizens to hit the highways on outings.

Simple precautions can minimize the danger. The warning, prominently displayed at the liquor vendors, deserves repetition: "If you drink, don't drive; if you drive, don't drink." That admonition, coupled with the commonsense advice to consider all other drivers irresponsible and to take additional care, can reduce road hazards.

Making A Splash In The News

THIS WEEK'S MASS ATTACK ON the English Channel (by swimmers) would seem to have thoroughly exhausted the possibilities of that nautical feat. Among the 19 who struck out from Cap Griz Nez was a 118-pound English woman who made it on this, her first attempt. A 41-year-old Egyptian swimmer and a French entrant both broke the men's record set 24 years ago. Half a dozen more completed the grind, surely depriving it of further glamor or world attention. The 19-mile crossing remains, of course, a challenge to long-distance swimmers, but its achievement by individuals through the years, and now by groups, must relegate future attempts to the category of less newsworthy athletic endeavors. The Channel, so frequently the scene of these heroic endeavors, can now remain unwept, unhonored, and, for all we care, unswum.

Allied Officials Have Doubts About Refugee Army Proposal

From JOHN BARTLETT, from Bonn

ALLIED sources are somewhat disturbed by the suggestion that has been mooted in certain German circles to the effect that the refugees can be counted on to form a vigorous portion of any new German defence force. On the presumption that some sort of German army will be created in the near future, some military experts close to the Adenauer government are talking about concentrating on recruiting from the ranks of the refugees because they are felt to have the biggest anti-Red stake.

TWO FACTORS

This argument is based on two factors. In the first place, a large part of the refugees are unemployed and would be interested on economic grounds in joining a new German army. Secondly, most of the refugees insist they must have the right to return to their homes in the east and have militantly expressed themselves on this score, indicating that they would fight the Russians harder than other elements of the German population.

That the Germans will again have an army—whether in the form of contingents in a European force or as a variant of the Soviet zone police—is considered in most quarters to be inevitable, especially in view of the climate of opinion of the consultative assembly in Strasbourg. Allied officials are, however, worried that an army based on the refugee population will force the Western Powers into the position of accepting a foreign policy for which they are not prepared. For the refugees demand not only the return of the Oder-Neisse territories in Poland, but East Prussia and Sudetenland as well.

Until now the Allied Powers have played a bargaining position on the eastern territories quite well. They have been able to challenge the Russian position that Polish-occupied territories must be regarded as permanently Poland's even in advance of the signing of a peace treaty. But they have never committed themselves to the view that when the peace treaty came to be signed they would endorse German demands for the reincorporation of those territories.

CYNICAL ASPECT

High Allied sources say in addition that they do not like the cynical aspect of recruiting among the refugees as a direct means of alleviating the unemployment problem. They are afraid the German government may thereby neglect to take up seriously the attempt at solving the country's basic economic problems. O.F.N.S. Copyright

Chips Off The Old Brock

By DAVID BROCK

BY MEANS of the popular vote of 643 literary experts of all countries, Mr. Whit Burnett and Messrs. Longmans Green have discovered the 15 best authors writing today (or alive today). Mr. Shaw led the list but refused to appear in the anthology, "The World's Best," so everyone moved up one place, and the rest in order of merit are these: Mann, O'Neill, Hemingway, Sinclair Lewis, Undset, Santayana (he not dead yet, boys?), T. S. Eliot, Aldous Huxley, Frost, Steinbeck, Maugham, Sandburg, Cather, and Millay. So now you know; though you do not know (in spite of being able to guess) the proportion of American voters, who were able to elect 10 Americans out of 15.

If you are able to rank authors at all, by vote or otherwise, you should be able to rank at least a dozen French novelists (including Colette herself) ahead of Lewis, Maugham, Hemingway and Steinbeck. Nor need you cut your list up into novelists, poets, etc. The 15 best writers means the 15 best writers in any class... the grand champions, best in the show. Is Sandburg really a better writer than Beerbohm, or Edna Millay than Belloc? Belloc once proved, rather convincingly, that P. G. Wodehouse is at the top of the writing trade because he is unique for simplicity and exactitude, which is to say that he gets the full effect, bang! Wodehouse is certainly a better writer than Steinbeck, and given space, I will be happy to demonstrate this.

THE Dullest Authors

ALL sorts of journals have been making all sorts of fuss about the Columbia University Press' little poll to decide the world's 10 most boring books. Many believe that the C.U.P. invented this trifling game, though it is at least as old as 1919, when James Branch Cabell wrote his wonderful book, "Beyond Life," and gave his list of the (to him) 10 most boring of the classical authors... oddly enough, he was bored stiff by Jane Austen, the St. Jane of the Austen Friars. The C.U.P. poll headed its list with "The Pilgrim's Progress," followed by "Moby Dick," "Paradise Lost," "The Faerie Queen," Boswell's Johnson (1), "Pamela," "Silas Marner," "Ivanhoe," "Don Quixote" and "Faust."

THE voters were alleged to be "hundreds of editors, writers, booksellers, librarians, literary critics, and amateurs," and presumably included representatives of the Police Gazette, cigar-store bookselling, the library of Des Moines Academy of Tap-dancing, and the League of True Confessors. How in the world any semi-literate man could think "Ivanhoe" and Boswell duller than Kant's "Critique of Pure Reason" or Gibbon's "Autobiography" is something for the bookish ladies of Morningside Heights to ponder... next time they get round to Old Man Cogitation. Not that pondering isn't boring, too; it's an acquired taste.

LAUNCHED A THOUSAND CHIPS

UP ABOVE, a recent likeness of yrs flly, printed in a sadistic attempt to frighten little children and let them know who's master around here. But I hope it doesn't make too many grown-ups say "Good-bye, Mr. Chips."

HOW ABOUT HAREMS?

ACCORDING to the Reader's Digest (to which quite a lot of things are according), the city of Decatur in Illinois has been able to put down car-theft by arresting and fining any man who exercises his own right to leave his own keys in his own car. The charge seems to be one of unfairly tempting a thief. You'd think that any man foolish enough would be offending merely himself, but no. Decatur and the Digest say he is offending society and must be punished. Well, thieves have a mighty tough life, and I suppose it is best to be fair to them where we can. We all know now that they are sick and not naughty. I myself have often heard my dishonest and invalid pals say "I think I'm gonna be sick" as they strap on their holsters and mask their pitiful eyes.

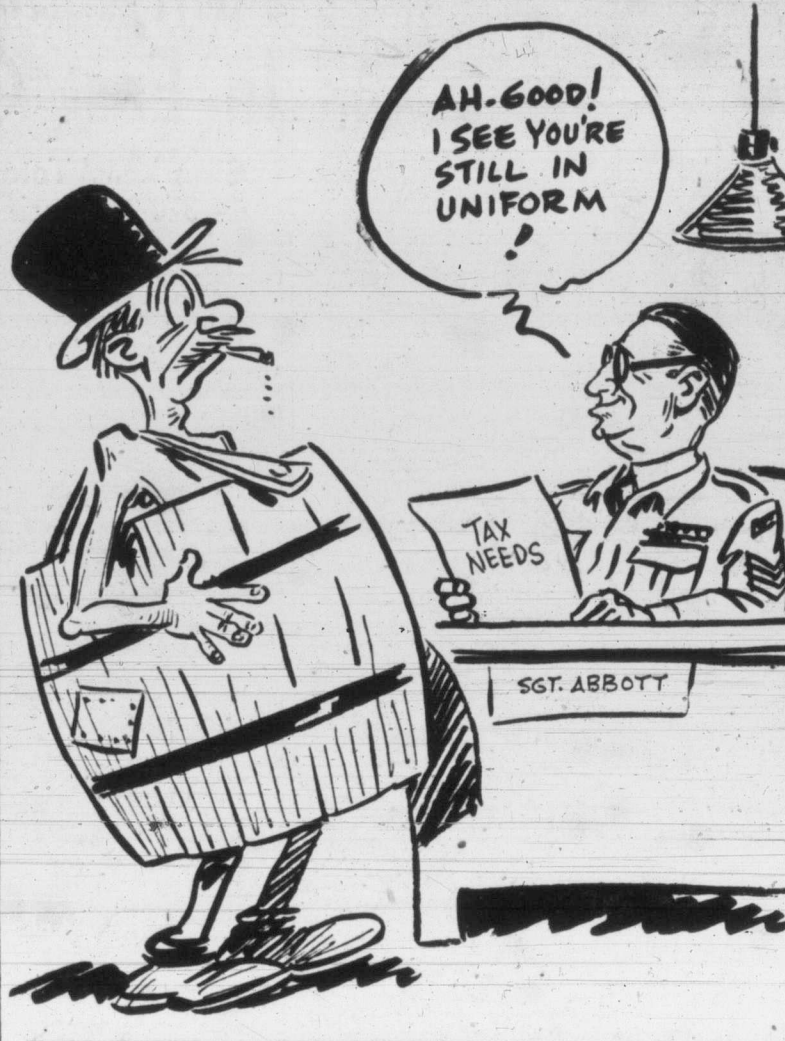

BUT if we start arresting every man who is careless about what was once considered his private property, we're going to have to make the farmers take their apples in at night. You've got to look at that. Otherwise... binglo!... Juvenile You-Know-What. And the same with wives: has any man the right to leave a beautiful wife lying around loose in every sense of that adjective? He's tempting society, and should be fined. And besides, building burglar-proof harems would stimulate the construction trades no little... again, in every sense of the word stimulate.

INVITATION
A FRIEND of ours who is building a house has been interested (to put it one way) in the streams of evening strangers who strut through his half-finished halls, making comments. Some of them invite him not to worry about them; they'll just walk round by themselves. He is now at work on a little sign to pin on what will one day be a locked entrance:

"You're welcome to walk and to talk in my house.
If you're nice as a pie and discreet as a mouse.
But when you first trespass here, please do not shout:
I'm trying to figure this (ba-ha!) thing out."

ANSWERS PETER MATTHEWS

I think your opinion of dogs is not just. If a man wishes to get rid of a dog he can call the S.P.C.A. instead of using such a brutal method as that man did. (tying and drowning).

As for dogs carrying disease, I live on a farm and know that illkept horses, cows, chickens and cats can be even more harmful.

Many dogs have saved people's lives — yet many of mankind mistreat one of their best comrades—a dog.

My dog "Bitsy" was treated so. Three years ago in the midst of a terrible winter, my father saw a small black object disappear into the bush. Dad went after it and caught a shivering, thin six-month-old pup. "Bits" had been tied in a sack and had gotten out.

She is a cross between a fox terrier, "Lab." and whippet. She is well-trained and has never nipped any teasing person. "Bits" dislikes any stranger—she remembers a mean one. We all love her. I know many other lovely dogs also.

If any dog is mean—a human has made him so.

ANNE MCGREGOR.

Aged 12.

LIMITED KNOWLEDGE

BECAUSE Mr. Peter Matthews' knowledge of dogs seems limited to those owned by people too poverty-stricken and ignorant to give them proper care, it is surely no reason for him to assume that all dogs are "filthy and disease-laden." Slum areas may have dogs such as Mr. Matthews describes, but he can rest assured that clean, enlightened homes boast clean, healthy dogs, and he is far wrong in classifying them all in the only category with which he seems acquainted.

CATS AND DOGS

I have not the pleasure of an acquaintance with Peter Matthews who had a letter in your paper about dogs. Apparently he doesn't like "man's best friend." All the same, he's got something in his argument. He didn't mention fleas; but I think I know what he was driving at. What I wish he would do, however, is to give his opinion about cats. Now cats, in my opinion, are a pest. You can always tell where they have been, and it's not by the presence of fleas. How about it, Mr. Matthews?

ANTI-FELINE.

DISAGREES

In your issue of Monday you give the remark of the head of the Women's Christian Temperance Union in the U.S. referring to beer being shipped to the fighting men in Korea. She says: "Obviously, American soldiers must have been disgusted to see transports unload beer while their buddies were being slaughtered because of lack of reinforcements and effective equipment." It's only the other day that I read of an American unit that held a hot dusty hill-top for more than 50 hours without sleep against constant attacks. A cool beer must have seemed pretty good to those boys when they finally got back to their lines. The W.C.T.U. lady obviously doesn't know much about Korea, or soldiers, or beer.

SUPPORT IT OR QUIT

A great many Canadians must be feeling uneasy at the present trend of world events. Russia seems determined upon a policy of conquest and aggression, yet our government seems hardly aware of it. Should not the House of Commons and the Senate be in session continually during these crucial days?

WALKING TO WORK

National Health and Welfare Bulletin
Walking to work is one of nature's finest and most convenient forms of exercise. Unless distance or the weather prevents, everyone should walk at least part of the way to work at least once a day. The exercise in the open air fills the lungs, quickens the flow of blood and stimulates the appetite.

LAND OF NO RETURN?

Edmonton Journal
Prime Minister Menzies of Australia has called on Prime Minister St. Laurent and members of his government at Ottawa, and has gone on his way. He was returning home from London, and had visited Washington before coming up briefly to the dominion capital. He is the latest of a number of dominion prime ministers to visit Ottawa — Nehru of India last October and Liaquat Ali Khan of Pakistan last June. Sir Basil Brooke of Northern Ireland was there too, in May.

Going back over the years, the list lengthens. Even General Smuts has visited us during his prime ministership of South Africa, although Malan has not come this way yet. But in all that time, a Canadian prime minister has paid no return calls.

LUMBER SUBSTITUTE

Winnipeg Free Press
Western Canadian farmers, prospective home-builders, and construction men alike will be interested in an industrial process which has been developed by a Danish inventor. It provides for the commercial utilization of grain straw, which in Denmark as in Western Canada has been burned in large quantities because it had no commercial value.

According to a Danish publication, the Copenhagen Review, the inventor has developed a building material from the sticky vegetable fibre in the straw. The blocks of fibre are mixed with plaster to give a high-quality wall plaster.

The fibre is also used as a binder, with other materials, in the construction of building tiles, flooring, doors and even furniture.

KNOWING BEST

The Times of London
There is perhaps no admission which it is harder to make with complete generosity and no reservation of any kind than that somebody else knows best. There can be no two more grudging words, especially if two more, "of course," are added to them. They may mean that it is somebody's own business; nobody cares and he can go to the devil in his own way; or that he is a conceited jackanapes and there can be no reason for being sorry for his ignorance. They may mean that he ought to know best, having indeed unique sources of information and having devoted his life to the subject, but that he certainly does not. The only thing they seldom mean is that somebody is wiser than we are and we wholeheartedly adopt his views.

Ups And Downs

By BRIAN A. TOBIN

"It's come," said the Elevator Man. "It's one more step in making it impossible for us imperfect mortals to get by in the world. Now they've invented an ultra-violet lamp for inspecting dishes after they're washed. The 'black light' shows up any particles of food that might be left by making them shine in the dark, even when the plate looks otherwise clean. Health authorities claim it'll help them in keeping public eating places up to the mark. But harassed wives may see it as another whip to be cracked over their heads. It was bad enough when the menfolk could point out the odd grease-spot on the plates. Now they can find even invisible dirt. Looks like the lamps won't be the only thing that's ultra-violent. Going up!

"You know," said the Elevator Man, "it would be quite a thing if they could develop the same kind of a gadget to inspect human beings. You might shine it on a fellow who makes a point of being seen in church, and find that the apparent cleanness hid a lot of little blemishes. The 'black light' might show up little spots of greed and selfishness and pride that the general washing had missed. In fact, come to think of it, there'd be mighty few of us who didn't show at least a few sins on our moral cups and saucers. It's probably just as well we haven't got such a lamp. When it comes to humanity, there's enough obviously dirty dishes around now, without finding crumbs and germs on the apparently clean ones. With neighbors, as with strange restaurants, 'what you don't know won't hurt you' is a comfortable, if not very sanitary, philosophy. Going down!

"I noticed," said the Elevator Man, "a news item about a navy recruit in the States who was taking an eye test. He read the line of letters from left to right. 'Now do it backwards,' he was told. The recruit spun on his heels so he faced the other way. 'Gosh, doc,' he said, 'I can't see it at all now.' That might not be a bad tactic when we're looking at the other fellow's sins, too. Then we might hope he'll do the same for us."

The groceries were missing. A search of his wallet, still in his pocket, showed approximately $63 gone.

The man explained that he does not drink. He had a similar memory lapse last year.

He asked the sergeant to instruct any policemen, who may see him wandering about aimlessly on the city streets, to take him to the police station.

Plane Rescues 2 Seattle Men Twice Wrecked

Washed Ashore, Went Hungry For 12 Days

KODIAK, Alaska (AP)—Two Seattle fishermen survived two shipwrecks and existed 12 days on six cans of food washed ashore before being picked up by a Kodiak-based Coast Guard flying-boat today.

They are Carl Hartley Teuber, 50, and Levi H. Burkholder, 53, who had their first solid meal since Aug. 11 here Wednesday night.

They gave this account of their harrowing experience:

Their Della II, a 39-foot fishing vessel, swamped in Paule Bay on the Alaska peninsula.

Later a sudden storm and heavy seas sent the Della II to the bottom, washing it up on the beach alongside the Della I. The two men managed to save one skiff.

Next day six cans of food washed onto the beach from the wreckage. That was their show thereafter.

They spent the next several days wet and cold, huddled on the beach near their skiff.

On Sunday, Aug. 20, they left Paule Bay, hoping to reach the native village of Kanatak, some 30 miles to the westward. They rowed their skiff one whole day, spending the night on the beach.

Tuesday they continued to row until spotted by a plane. Earlier, the mainland fisheries cannery at Kukah notified the Coast Guard the men were missing.

Qualicum 'Workshop' Debates Teachers' Salary Schedule

The wage scale of teachers is being discussed by delegates attending the B.C. Teachers' Association Workshop which opened Wednesday at Qualicum College.

The teachers discussed salary negotiation and arbitration procedure in order that the best possible salary schedules for teachers may be obtained through collective bargaining.

Among other subjects to be discussed at the week's meetings are the B.C. Teachers' Pension Act and educational publicity and public relations.

Recreational activities for the teachers, who have come from all parts of the province, include boating, fishing, hiking and golfing.

Speakers invited to address the workshop are T. R. Hall, principal of the Vancouver Normal School; D. A. McGregor, associate editor, Vancouver Daily Province; William Ryan, Vancouver Sun; W. B. McCusker, editor of the Comox Free Press; D. G. Chamberlain, president of the B.C. Teachers' Federation; J. Allan Sprague, first vice-president; and W. A. Hanson, Langley Teachers' Association.

Force Of 10,000 Allies At Trieste

Battle-Ready British, U.S. Army Stands Guard Beside Yugoslavia

By JAMES M. LONG

TRIESTE (AP)—Ten thousand British and American troops are ready here if Communism's next armed blow falls on neighboring Yugoslavia.

Garrisoning this allied-guarded free territory on the Yugoslav-Italian border, they are "combat ready" in training and equipment. But they sit on a spot too tight to hold—and backed by an Italian army probably still too weak to help.

Their chief bulwark is the opinion, held by American military observers here and in Rome, that the Yugoslav army would be a tough nut for other Communist states to crack.

Probably no one outside the Kremlin knows if such an invasion blow is scheduled for Yugoslav Premier Tito's tough little anti-Stalin Communist state.

But if such a Communist move should come, most observers think the Anglo-American forces here would be reinforced quickly and ordered into the fight. Action in Korea is an example.

Well-qualified opinion here holds that Tito's troops are equal to or better than anything that any one or two of the surrounding Russian satellites could muster for an attack.

But hit by them all—Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Albania—and by strong Soviet support, Yugoslavia would need help.

This thin strip of free territory is five miles deep and 20 miles long, centred on the port and naval basin of Trieste. It is the base from which that help would have to come.

No one knows what Italy would do. She has no love for Yugoslavia. She probably would help in a fight to keep her own frontiers from being the next to be reached. But her fighting force is limited by her Second World War peace treaty to less than Yugoslavia's. Italy is the weakest link in the western wall.

Trieste itself would be useful as a base only if a Soviet attack could be checked far short of it. The British-American zones are stretched along the coastal flatland, virtually untenable against attack from the 1,000-foot-high inland plain which looks down from within close artillery range.

The American force here is limited by the peace treaty to 5,000 men and thus cannot now be reinforced. The British element of the Trieste force also is 5,000 strong and limited also to that figure.

LLOYDS RATES NEWSMEN HIGH

LONDON (AP)—Lloyds of London quoted a premium of 10 per cent Wednesday for accidental death insurance on newspaper correspondents covering the war in Korea. This is double the premium quoted just before D-Day in Normandy in 1944 for the same kind of insurance on correspondents.

STRIKE BIGGEST YET

Railway Tie-Up Involving More Men Than Any Other

OTTAWA (CP) — For sheer number of strikers involved, the general rail tie-up is the greatest strike in Canada's history. But it would have to last 11 days to set a record for working time lost through a strike.

That distinction goes to a 1911 strike of coal miners in southern Alberta and British Columbia, which lasted 195 days with a loss of 1,350,000 man-days. There were 7,000 workers engaged in it.

Up until the present time, the largest number of workers involved had been 44,367 in the Winnipeg general strike of 1919. That number included those who went out in sympathy strikes in various parts of the country. Man-day loss was 1,033,000, putting that strike in fourth place.

Second-highest loss of 1,121,000 man-days was in the 1947 strike of 14,900 coal miners in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick that lasted 90 days.

Third was the 1946 strike of British Columbia loggers. This lasted 36 days, involved 37,000 men and cost 1,100,000 man-days.

1,400 JOIN REGULAR FORCE

OTTAWA (CP) — The defence department said today 1,400 men have joined the three regular forces since the July 20 call for thousands more men to expand them. That would make their total about 48,200, compared with an authorized ceiling of 70,000. The new regulars are in addition to the 7,400 men who have joined the army's special force.

THE HOME GARDEN

Delphiniums, Marigolds, Zinnias, Butchart's Best

By JACK G. BEASTALL

Getting down to discussion of the actual plants we saw in the seed nursery at Butchart's, the list is dominated by the delphiniums, marigolds and zinnias.

The tall, stately spikes of delphinium with closely placed large florets, and bees (centres) of contrasting colors, were from the well-known Pacific giants, the Black Knight series, and the Guinevere series. For tall background work these varieties are excellent.

DWARF BLUES

Two dwarf blues particularly appealed to me, both of them attractive shades which stood up well in full sun. The taller one, 18 to 24 inches, was named Cambridge Blue, which just about describes the color. The other was Blue Butterfly, a beautiful rich, deep blue variety of D. sinense, ranging from 12 to 18 inches, and an adorable little fellow for the rockery.

There was also a large-flowered white, without the usual dark bee, which would be very useful in a mixed border to lighten the darker masses and separate contrasting colors. Striking as it was, the label carried the simple description, "Clear White."

The gardener who, like myself, prefers the lighter shades in delphiniums, will find the Summer Skies series most attractive. Each large floret is a beautiful soft sky blue centered with a white bee, and it was easy to conjure up startling effects of three to five plants in groups, set about half-way back in a wide border.

DESIRABLE VETERAN

One old-timer, a good reliable delphinium which is not used nearly as much as it deserves, is D. Belladonna. The florets are turquoise blue carried on graceful delicate spikes, which make the "giants" look somewhat coarse in comparison. Of medium height, it can be placed in many positions unsuitable to its taller growing relatives. It could almost be called a continuous bloomer, a habit borrowed from its reputed parent, the tall branched garland larkspur, D. chelanthum.

Unemployment Dropping Rapidly Till Strike Hit

On Aug. 3 Canada Enjoying 'Unparalleled Prosperity With 97 Out Of 100 Working

OTTAWA (CP)—The Labor Department announced Wednesday unemployment in Canada declined by 25,000 during the three weeks ended Aug. 3.

But, it added, this seemingly general decline will be changed by the "existing situation," presumably the rail strike.

The department said at Aug. 3 Canada was experiencing "unparalleled prosperity" in which 97 out of every 100 workers have jobs.

In the three weeks ended Aug. 3, registrations for employment with the National Employment Service fell from 183,200 to 158,100.

This figure was some 19,000 above last year's corresponding total, but the department noted the increase was only 2,000 in registrations from men.

There were almost 17,000 more women looking for jobs than at the same time last year.

The increase in unemployed women was particularly noted in Ontario.

In the Pacific region, 20,700 were unemployed, about 4,400 fewer than at July 1 and 1,000 less than a year ago. Here, an exceptionally heavy catch of fish was expected to bring employment in canneries above what it has been for the last two years. A growing shortage

M.L.A. DIES AS WIFE BURIED

SHAWNIGAN FALLS, Que. (CP)—Alphonse Edgar Guillemette, 73, former Member of the Quebec Legislature, died of a heart attack Wednesday a few hours after his wife was buried.

He represented St. Maurice riding in the Quebec government from 1924-1927. He was also the last surviving member of the first city council established here in 1901.

UNCLE RAY

Yesterday I spoke about the very high waterfalls of the world, ranging up to more than 1,400 feet in a single leap of water. Such falls provide a pretty sight, but they tend to be narrow, and seldom provide more than a "ribbon" of water tumbling from a mountain ledge.

Today let us look at some of the falls which are known for their great volume of water. By far the biggest of these in North America are Niagara Falls. They are within easy range of several good-sized cities, including Buffalo, Toronto and Hamilton.

Water from Lake Erie is carried along by the Niagara River, and goes over Niagara Falls. During low level of Lake Erie, the water which tumbles over each minute is about 68,000,000 gallons. At high level, the amount is about 120,000,000 gallons.

Goat Island divides Niagara Falls into two parts, the American and Canadian. The American Fall is 165 feet high, which is several feet greater than the height of the Canadian, or Horseshoe Fall. The Canadian side, however, has more water than the American side.

The greatest waterfalls in Africa are Victoria Falls. The middle parts of them are 420 feet high—more than two and a half times the height of Niagara Falls.

The volume of Victoria Falls is given as 62,000,000 gallons at low level of the Zambesi River, and as 100,000,000 gallons at high level. This means that the average volume is almost, but not quite, equal to the volume of Niagara Falls.

Islands split Victoria Falls into four parts. At one side is the Leaping Water, at the other side is Rainbow Fall. In the centre are the two "main falls."

Thanks to the Cape-to-Cairo railway line, thousands of persons have seen Victoria Falls in recent years. Before that railway was built, only a few white persons had come to the spot. Niagara Falls, on the other hand, have been a centre for tourists for more than a century. It is estimated that more than 2,000,000 persons see them each year.

Municipalities Ask Permission To Attend Forthcoming Federal-Provincial Conference

SASKATOON (CP)—Canadian cities and town asked formally Wednesday for permission to attend next month's federal-provincial conference in Ottawa.

By RED SMITH

THIS is the week when the merry mendicants of amateur tennis drop off the rods of the Long Island railroad in Forest Hills and begin 10 days of strife on the bloody battlefield of the West Side Tennis Club.

Starting Friday afternoon when delegates from Australia challenge America's right to possession of the Davis Cup and continuing through the national singles championships next week, the business of batting a soft rubber ball across a fishnet will be regarded as an undertaking of international, inter-continental and interhemispheric, if not inter-planetary, significance.

At least, that's how some authorities regard the struggle for the big silver birdie which Dwight F. Davis put into competition 50 years ago. A somewhat cooler view is expressed by a gilded sign hanging in the marquee at Forest Hills, which argues that there isn't a bloom in bit of difference between winning and losing.

"If you can meet with triumph and disaster," declares the sign, borrowing liberally from Mr. Kipling, "and treat those two imposters just the same."

Serious Business For All

IT IS, nevertheless, a serious business to the young men who get out there on the lawn and do battle in their drawers. For them it is a livelihood. And it is a fairly grim affair for the team captains, who are currently clawing at their haircuts and beating their brows in a strategical paroxysm.

Harry Hopman, of Australia, and Alrich H. Man, Jr., of the United States, must decide on the personnel of the teams for four singles and one doubles match. The man who guesses wrong will hear about it. The one who guesses right may not be warmly acclaimed by the players he discards.

To consider Man's problem first, the chances are he can begin by conceding the doubles match to Australia and endeavor to offset that by selecting singles players to win at least three of those contests. To accomplish this, he must almost surely start with Ted Schroeder as his Number One boy.

Schroeder has been America's big guy in this sort of competition since the Davis Cup matches were resumed after the war. Nobody ever has beaten him in a challenge round. Last year he and Pancho Gonzales won all four singles matches.

Since then, however, Gonzales has elected to play for a $60,000 guarantee as a professional, preferring security to the greater but less certain rewards of amateur tennis. With no Gonzales to back him up, Man must consider that Schroeder is 30 years old and has played relatively little tennis.

Still, with only 10 days of practice Ted was good enough to polish off most of the best players in Newport recently, so it seems sensible to go with him as top guy in the challenge round.

Cannot Break Up Veterans

EVEN though they lost to Australia last year, Gardner Mulloy and Bill Talbert rank as America's best bet in the doubles. It would be considered a risky business to break up this veteran team. That leaves Man with the problem of selecting a second singles player. Tom Brown has not been the most consistent player in the world but at his best he can be sensational. Among the younger players, he is best equipped to come up with the "big game," and on that grounds he seems a logical favorite to be chosen.

A year ago the experts had the notion that Australia's Frank Sedgeman was the player of the immediate future. In many quarters it was agreed that with Gonzales out of the way Sedgeman would recapture the cup which Australia last won in 1939.

Doubts about this young man have multiplied lately, because he has been playing badly. Until this week, when his game improved sharply in the finals of the U.S. doubles championships, he did not appear to have advanced in the last 12 months.

Yet if Man is stuck with Schroeder, Hopman is similarly dependent on Sedgeman. In other years, John Bromwich would be an automatic choice for Australia's other singles spot because he has been that nation's solid man since 1938. There are, however, doubts regarding this veteran's ability to last through two singles and one doubles match.

In the inter-zone finals with Sweden, Bromwich won his first match, helped win the doubles, then lost to Sweden's Lennert Bergelin, who had already beaten Sedgeman.

Thus Australia won by the thinnest possible margin, three matches to two, and many felt that the burden was too heavy for the 31-year-old Bromwich. Esteeming Bergelin as an exciting player, they questioned his ability to whip Bromwich if the Australian were fresh.

Bromwich Presents Problem

BROMWICH probably is the best doubles player alive, but that only magnifies Hopman's difficulties. For if he were to reserve Bromwich as insurance at doubles, he would have to depend on Ken McGregor or George Worthington, both green kids, in the singles. And to use Bromwich as a singles player, might mean risking loss of the doubles.

It is a dilemma exceeded in complexity only by the one which confronted the promoters when they arranged for posters to advertise this jewel in the crown of amateur sport. The question was, whose photograph to use on the posters. In store windows all over town, you can see how the question was answered. They used Fred Perry, who's been a pro for about 15 years.

WINNIPEG (CP)—It's four Canadians and four Americans today in the quarter-finals of the Canadian women's open golf championships.

By the luck of the draw, Canada is assured of at least one representative in the Friday semi-finals.

Two U.S. players, Dot Kietly of Los Angeles and Edna Anderson of Helena, Mont., were drawn against each other in the eighth. So the winner of the match between Mrs. N. J. Carlson of Toronto and Babs Davies of Vancouver will move ahead. All four are in the lower half of the draw.

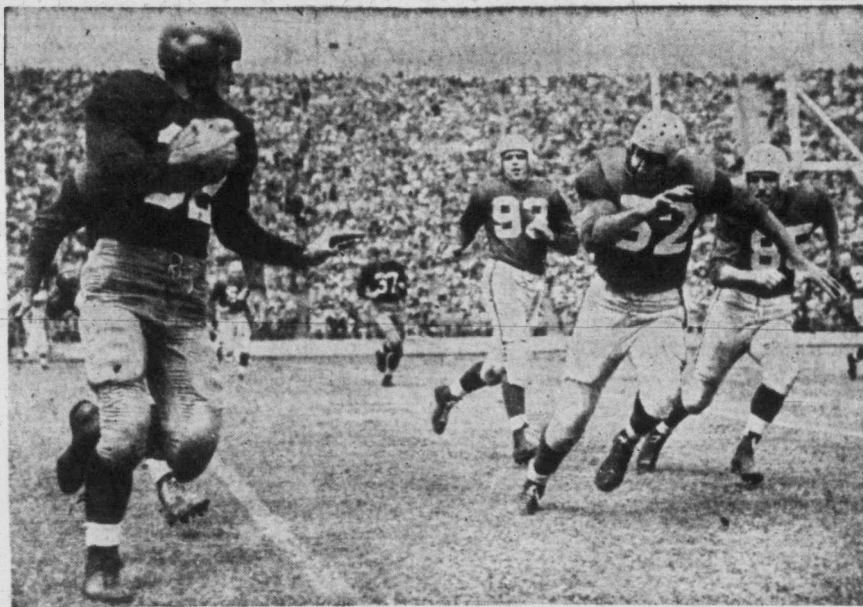

In other games today, defending champion Grace De Moss of Corvallis, Ore., is to meet Mrs. W. S. Edey of Winnipeg. Sixteen-year-old Merlene Stewart of Welland, Ont., is to take on Mrs. Eddie Bush of Hammond, Ind.

As expected, Mrs. Edey and Miss Stewart are considered underdogs, but anything can happen. This was proved in the first round of the open competition when Mrs. B. Campbell of Winnipeg—defeated yesterday by Mrs. Edey—upset the 1947-48 Canadian Open champion, Grace Lenczyk of Newton, Conn. Miss Lenczyk had been considered as a cinch to reach at least the semi-finals.

WAS SURPRISE—Miss Stewart's victory over Ada MacKenzie of Toronto yesterday also could be classed a major upset. Diminutive Marlene, playing her second year of competitive golf, hung a convincing 4 and 3 defeat on the favored Torontonian, who paced the Ontario team to the inter-provincial title.

Mrs. Edey, Manitoba champion, had a late start in golf this year due to the Red River floods and poor weather. However, the experts pick her to give Miss De Moss a battle. The

Important Games On Tap For Senior Softball Clubs

Weather again hit at city sports events last night and for the second straight time scheduled softball and lacrosse games were postponed.

The Senior B Lacrosse League playoff between Jokers and Foul Bay for the right to represent the city in the island final against Nanaimo has been rescheduled for Stevenson Memorial Park tonight at 6.30.

Jokers hold a one-game lead in the best-of-five affair, having won the opener at the Memorial Arena 6 to 4. The league titlist could take a stranglehold on the championship with a win over the Bays in tonight's game.

On the softball scene tonight's action sees B.C. Forest Products clashing with Bluebird Cabs at upper Central at 6.30. Cabbies face virtual elimination from the league playoff picture if they drop the tilt with the millmen.

Friday night Brentwood and Chinese Students meet in a game that may decide second place. A Brentwood victory would give the suburbanites the honor but a Chinese triumph would necessitate the playing of two postponed games.

The league playoff structure has the first-place club meeting the third-place team and the second-place unit tackling the fourth-place club in the semifinals.

Rocks' Sideliners To Meet Tonight

Possibility of chartering aircraft for Shamrocks' playoff games on the mainland will be one of the main items of business at the meeting of the Shamrocks' Sideliners Club at the Williams Hall, 749 Broughton Street, tonight at 8.

Assistance for junior lacrosse clubs and plans for next season's activities are other subjects on the agenda.

Members and prospective members are invited to attend the meeting.

8 Victoria Daily Times THURSDAY, AUG. 24, 1950

NEW YORK (UP)—A nation-wide railroad strike called for Monday would leave the major-league baseball teams literally up in the air.

For the big leaguers, who normally travel by rail from one city to another, would have to take to the air in planes to fulfill their schedule as the pennant races in both leagues draw close to a climax.

A poll of the 16 National and American League teams revealed today that the traveling secretaries of all clubs are laying their plans for a switch to air travel.

Some of them even indicated they would take a page from the minor leagues' book and make their shorter hops by chartered bus.

Victoria Athletics are scheduled to play a double-header with Tacoma Tigers at Tacoma tonight and Dick Greco, Tacoma's slugging outfielder, is slated to take as his bride, Evelyn Moore of Victoria.

The A's and Tigers were rained out for a second straight time last night and may be rained out again tonight in their last scheduled appearance at Tiger-town this year. Just what will happen to the wedding if rain interferes with the outdoor ceremony is not known, except that the A's will lose a large take as the park is expected to be filled for the occasion.

Bob Kerrigan, the league's top hurler with 21 victories to his credit, is almost certain to start one of the games for the Tigers. Jim Propst and Ron Smith are likely starters for the A's.

Following tonight's games the A's move on to Yakima for a four-game series.

WIN-PAIR

In games last night Yakima took a pair from Wenatchee, 5 to 0 and 7 to 2, to climb within one percentage point of the leading Tigers. The Bears actually hold a half-game lead but they have played five more games than Tacoma.

Lloyd Dickey and Larry Powell, a pair of southpaws, hurled the triumphs for the Bears. Bill McCawley hit a three-run homer EDMONTON (AP)—The last race meet of the prairie season, scheduled for Sept. 1-16 at Winnipeg, is "in the lap of the gods" due to the current national railway strike, an official of the Prairie Racing Association said today.

The official said prairie racing faces the same situation as other businesses, not knowing when the strike may end. Horses can be moved from Edmonton to Winnipeg in 30 hours once rail operations resume.

The two-week Edmonton meet ends Saturday. Nearly 500 race horses will be stranded here if the rail strike continues through Sept. 1.

for Yakima in the fourth inning of the opener.

Spokane also won a double bill, splitting Tri-City twice to the tune of 6 to 5 and 8 to 7. John Conant registered his 14th victory in the first game.

Rain canceled the Vancouver-Salem double bill.

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP)—There will not be a deer season in Minnesota this year, Chester S. Wilson, state conservation commissioner, announced today.

Severe conditions last winter and a late spring this year took a heavy toll of fawns in many areas, resulting in considerable loss of future breeding stock, Wilson said in an order closing the season.

Minnesota had a five-day deer season in 1949 during which 137,700 licenses were issued and an estimated 48,195 deer killed.

Oppenheimer To Head Golf Team

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP)—Raymond Oppenheimer, 44-year-old amateur golfer, will be non-playing captain of the British Walker Cup team against the United States next year, it was announced today. The Royal and Ancient Golf Club, in naming the captain, said the match would be at Birkdale, Lancashire, England, next May 11-12.

The New York Yankees are going to be stubborn about giving up their American League championship.

Yesterday they walloped the league-leading Detroit Tigers for the second straight time—and in impressive fashion. The score was 7 to 5, but that tells only half the story.

In whittling the Tigers' margin to a game and a half, the Yankees routed Detroit ace Art Houtteman before he had gone five innings. This is the same young righthander who had made them cry uncle four times this season.

The Yankees go for a sweep of the three-game series today, pitting Tommy Byrne (13-6), against Detroit's one-time ace, Hal Newhouser (10-8). Tomorrow the Yanks take on the lowly St. Louis Browns in the first of a two-game series while the Tigers limp into Boston where they will be greeted by the red-hot Red Sox, winners of nine straight games.

The Red Sox downed the Browns 9 to 5 yesterday to climb within 4½ games of the top. Third-place Cleveland, rained out of its game with Washington, is three games off the pace.

Philadelphia's front-running Phillies retained their 5½-game margin in the National League, defeating Cincinnati Reds 6 to 4. Home runs by Del Ennis and Andy Seminick were the big blows.

MARATHON BATTLE

Gene Hermanski's home run, followed by Carl Furillo's triple and Gil Hodges' double, gave Brooklyn Dodgers a 17-inning 7 to 5 victory over the Pirates under the Pittsburgh lights.

Ralph Branca pitched the last nine innings, allowed one run and fanned eight to record his sixth victory. Mel Queen, fourth Pirate pitcher, was the loser. It was the longest game of the season and the longest night game in major league history. Ralph Kiner bashed his 38th home run in the last of the ninth to force the game into extra innings.

Sam Jethroe doubled in two runs in the third inning to give the third-place Boston Braves a 2 to 1 victory over the Cardinals in St. Louis. Warren Spahn fanned six in winning his 16th.

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Laurie Shuttleworth's two-run homer in the top of the 11th inning Wednesday gave Vancouver Firemen a 2-to-0 victory over Lethbridge and the Alberta British Columbia senior men's softball championship.

It was the second extra-innings contest of the thrill-packed best-of-three series. Vancouver won 5 to 4 in 13 innings Tuesday after Lethbridge had taken the opener 6 to 5 Monday.

Firemen leave here by bus for Saskatoon where they meet Legion of that city in a best-of-three western semifinal.

Spectacular clutch pitching by Vancouver starter Pete Proctor and Norm Ford, who relieved him in the 11th, saved the day for Firemen.

In the 10th inning, Lethbridge put two men on base with none out, but Proctor got the side out without a run scoring.

DRAMATIC FINISH
In the 11th, Proctor weakened and walked the first two batters. Ford came in and was tabbed for a single to load the sacks. Then Ford bore down and whiffed the next two batters. Third sacker

Frank Ambler, who had singled ahead of Shuttleworth's home run, gathered in Jack Yucytus' scorching grounder for a force-out at third to end the game.

Loser Eddie Foychuk hurled the whole game for Lethbridge to receive his first setback of the season against 14 wins.

Last-Place Club Stops Padres With 10th Inning Rally

San Diego Padres, the Coast League's consecutive win team, were becalmed last night by Sacramento Padres, lowest of them all.

Sacramento rallied for three runs in the ninth inning and two in the 10th to win 7 to 6 over the Padres, who had been rolling along with a streak of 14 wins in 15 starts.

Joe Marty, manager of the last-place Solons, was tossed out of the game in the ninth inning for protesting an umpire's decision as fans showered cushions on the field.

Earl Rapp, outfielder with top-spot Oakland, hit a three-run homer that stopped Los Angeles 8 to 7.

Hollywood Stars spotted San Francisco five runs, then roared back to take a 6 to 5 win. Johnny O'Neill squeezed home the victory run with a perfect bunt in the ninth.

Wet grounds postponed the Seattle and Portland game, and a doubleheader was announced for tonight.

Czech Distance Star Breaks Mark

BRUSSELS (AP)—Emil Zatopek, Czechoslovakia's Olympic champion, bettered his own world record for the 10,000-metre run Wednesday night in the European track and field championships.

The Czech army officer lapped his field on a rain-sodden track to win in 29 minutes and 12 seconds, far under his recognized world mark of 29:21.2. Zatopek turned in an even faster time in Finland 19 days ago when he was clocked in 29:02.6. That time is being put up for recognition.

FROM THE FANSTAND

By PETE SALLAWAY, Times Sports Editor

Now they've gone and transferred Victoria's horse-racing dates for this year to Vancouver. Brief announcement Tuesday disclosed that the provincial cabinet had given approval to extension of racing at both Exhibition Park and Lansdowne for one week. Such action has all the appearances of being the final payoff. If the Vancouver operators can run for an extra seven days on the tracks where their mutual handle is far greater than they could ever hope for in Victoria, why should they ever worry about resuming racing in this area? Both the B.C. Turf and Country Club Ltd. and the Vancouver Turf Club have declared themselves as being interested in the construction of new tracks in Greater Victoria, but latest developments make one wonder if such moves have been nothing more than a smoke cloud.

New Fair Grounds Main Hope

With the switching of the local dates to the mainland tracks many Victoria racing fans are of the opinion it is going to be a long time before this city ever gets them back. Racing meets at the dismantled Willows track in recent years were never considered a great success. In several talks with S. W. Randall, Vancouver operator, he always led one to believe it was a touch-and-go proposition to break even. And, with a new track to be located outside the city limits and not within easy reach of the after-five patrons, how could an operator expect to make a fair return on his investment? Main hope for a new racetrack here rests with the efforts of the B.C. Agricultural Association to secure a site on which to stage its annual fall fair. It is certain this group will make provision for a racing strip. Racing is a must to assure good financial support at the gate for a fair.

Pro Golfers Suffer Blast

A pat on the back to the editors of Sport magazine for their efforts on behalf of the negro athlete. Since the first issue four years ago the magazine has fought persistently on the principle that competitive sport should be open to all men and women, regardless of color or race.

Admitting that things are a whole lot better, Sport points out that some doors are still closed. Latest group to come under fire is the Professional Golfers' Association. "It has yet to admit a negro to membership," Sport points out editorially. "It has yet to accept a negro's entry for one of its sanctioned tournaments."

The P.G.A. is charged with boasting that its members are beating the best golfers in the world. "How does anybody know that this is true when a whole race of men is unreasonably excluded from competition?"

Racing's Best At Longacres

Chalk up another first to Longacres racetrack. The pride and joy of president Joe Gottstein will be the first plant in the northwest to capitalize on the appearance of jockey Eddie Arcaro, recognized by horsemen and fellow riders as the best in his profession. Arcaro has accepted a leg up on Mrs. Dorothy Brewster's Two and Twenty in Sunday's $20,000 Longacres Mile.

Arcaro's saddle feats are legion. He is the only rider to boast four Kentucky Derby victories—1938, Lawrin; 1941, Whirlaway; 1945, Hoop Jr.; 1948, Citation. He won the triple crown—Derby, Preakness, Belmont Stakes—with Whirlaway and Citation. He has won every top stake on the continent at least once and was the leading money-winning jockey in 1940-41-46-48.

Winner Disqualified At Exhibition Park Races

VANCOUVER (CP)—Exhibition Park stewards Wednesday, for the first time this season, disqualified a winning horse.

Georgia Moon, winner of the fifth, was disqualified and placed second for crossing over as the field turned into the stretch.

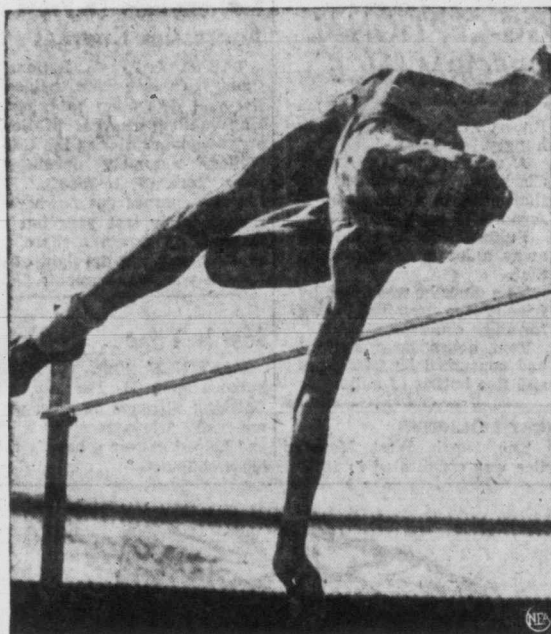

Stewards said Georgia Moon cut off the second horse, Royal Time. They awarded the win to Royal Time, and placed Georgia Moon second. Hair Do was third.

Stranahan Against Field Of Unknowns

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—Frank Stranahan will be chased today by a pack of dark horses in the national amateur golf tournament. Stranahan's big moment is at hand as the meet enters two more rounds that will trim the field from 16 to four semifinalists.

The Toledo strong boy is the only heralded star left after a series of upsets yesterday. His goal of taking the British and U.S. amateur titles the same year—matching Lawson Little's "little slam" in the mid-30s—may be realized.

In today's fifth round, Stranahan faces Willie Barber of Woodland Hills, Calif., 34-year-old former golden glove boxer. Barber is among the conglomeration of players remaining after yesterday's two rounds ejected such well-known amateurs as defending champion Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City; Dick Chapman, the 1940 winner; Walker Copper Bruce McCormick; Willie Turnesa, 1938 and 1948 titlist; Fred Wampler, national collegiate king; and Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver, Canadian amateur champion.

Stranahan yesterday dumped Mawhinney 1 up, then ousted Wampler 4 and 3.

TORONTO (CP)—Joseph Shuter Smith, former hockey scout and mayor of Cobourg, Ont., died in hospital here Wednesday. He was 57.

He was a hockey scout for several years for New York Rangers. He came to Cobourg in 1945 and was mayor in 1948 and 1949.

Smith was born in Port Hope, Ont. A brother, Paul Smith, is managing editor of the San Francisco Chronicle.

East Coast Ships Safe After Storm

HALIFAX (BUP)—The last of three ships earlier reported missing in the wake of a vicious storm which lashed the Nova Scotia coast was reported safe Wednesday.

The ship, the Newfoundland, L. A. Dunton, berthed at Grand Banks, Nfld., after the vessels Fairmore and Channel Cat tied up at Nova Scotia ports.

The Dunton rode out the storm in a sheltered cove.

Man Predicts U.S. Victory In Tough Series

Rates Australians Rugged Opponents In Davis Cup Tennis

NEW YORK (AP)—The captain of the United States Davis Cup forces today predicted victory over Australia in the week-end challenge matches, but added that it will be the toughest series in 11 years.

"I think we'll have the closest battle since Australia won the cup from us in 1939," said Alrick H. Man Jr., big, white-haired, non-playing leader, "but I'm convinced we'll take it."

Harry Hopman, little, red-haired captain of the invading Aussies, wore a worried look and said: "I don't even know how I'll line up my team yet."

The strongest team Australia has assembled since the war will attempt to wrest the big trophy from the United States in matches tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday at suburban Forest Hills.

In 1939, Australia's John Bromwich and Adrian Quist lost the first two matches to Bobby Riggs and Frankie Parker of the United States, and then stormed back for three straight triumphs.

Since then, the Aussies have won only two points. There was no play during the war, and taking up again in 1946, the U.S. racket stars recaptured the cup and held it with a firm hand.

Montreal Hosts Women's Golf

WINNIPEG (CP)—The 1951 Canadian women's golf championships will be held at Laval Sur Le Lac Golf Club in Montreal.

The announcement was made by Mrs. J. L. Petersen, retiring president of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Union. She was succeeded by Mrs. G. S. Currie of Montreal.

Mrs. M. K. Rowe of Toronto, the secretary-treasurer of the union, said in her report to yesterday's annual meeting 14 new clubs have been affiliated with the union and that there now are 254 clubs with a membership of 26,150.

The Ontario, whose 1949 Canadian amateur title recently was annexed by Mawhinney, shot a 69—three-under-par 68 to the visitor's 69.

The Simple Truth About "EASY TERMS"

It is often more convenient to buy a car out of income, rather than pay cash.

But to do so involves additional cost. So it is important to keep this cost as low as possible. For instance, twenty-four months of financing service costs twice as much as twelve.

The cheapest and best way to buy on time payments is to pay all you can down and pay as much per month as you can comfortably afford.

Don't be misled by so-called "Easy" payments. Take time to check on all costs as well as services proposed when you buy.

Irish To Meet Tribe; Adanacs Capture Title

Shamrocks against Indians and Adanacs against Burrards. That's the way the Inter-city Lacrosse League playoffs shape up today following Adanacs' 14 to 10 victory over Richmond-Kerrisdale last night.

The A's victory gave them their fourth consecutive league championship. Only one league game remains—Burrards meeting Indians Friday—but it will have no bearing on the final standings.

First game in the best-of-five semifinal set between the Tribe and the Rocks will take place at Kerrisdale Arena on Wednesday night with the second contest at the Memorial Arena on Sept. 1.

The third game is tentatively scheduled for Kerrisdale on Tuesday, Sept. 5 and the fourth, if necessary, here on Friday Sept. 8. If a fifth game is needed it will be played at Vancouver Forum, Tuesday, Sept. 12.

The other semifinal series between Adanacs and Burrards opens at New Westminster Monday night.

Richmond went down fighting in their final appearance of the year holding the Adanacs even for the first half but the yellow jackets broke away for seven goals in the third stanza to salt the game away. Ed Hanson of the losers topped the scoring parade with four goals. Jack Northup of the A's, the league scoring champion, notched one goal.

Meanwhile, on the home front the Rocks went through their second reconditioning drill of the week at the High School gym last night following which coach Arn-

Yanks Move In As Reds Shift

Mystery of the North Korean withdrawal on the Taegu (1) front may be explained within the next 24 hours. American forces have beaten back minor flank attacks on this vital front and moved into positions vacated by the Reds in their shift to the east. U.S. patrols crossed the river at Waegwan Thursday, met no opposition. Elsewhere U.N. patrols have run into stiff resistance on the Pohang front. Action around Changnyong has been localized.

SCIENTISTS WANTED

Men Quietly Sought For Defence Research

OTTAWA (CP) — Overshadowed by the great drive for armed forces recruits, the most secretive branch of all Canada's defence effort is going ahead with its own expansion and its own search for more manpower as a result of the international crisis born of Korea.

It is the Defence Research Board, the body whose scientists are working largely in secrecy on such vital problems as germ and gas warfare, radar, anti-submarine warfare, the Arctic, electronics and others. By next year its expenditures will be up substantially beyond this year's $25,000,000.

Its manpower ceiling—it has never been made public—has been lifted along with those for the three services. It is staging its own recruiting drive but it is far different from the intense, loud and public campaign for more men to wear uniform.

The board headed by Dr. O. M. Solandt, one of the four Chiefs of Staff, sent out some months ago a pamphlet explaining to young scientists what the board has to offer. The result was such that its staff was close to the existing ceiling when Korea came along.

Now it is after more men. Officials said today the expansion will be reflected in the new defence appropriations to be presented to the special session of Parliament shortly. But the big increase in expenditures won't come until next year.

The present anticipated bill for defence research and development activities this fiscal year is $25,000,000, a sum already approved by Parliament. No detailed breakdown is given for that figure because details would be of value to a potential enemy.

Officials said the expansion of activity will, in general, be an expansion of current efforts rather than new ones. But new research will be launched. A new naval research building is being built at Halifax, two other new laboratories here—one for radio propagation studies, one for electronics investigations.

Frantic Drive By Reds For Uranium

East German Economy, Manpower Squandered By Russians To Squeeze Last Ounce Of Ore

BERLIN (AP)—British authorities said today Russia has stepped up search for uranium in East Germany to a "frantic" pace, far beyond peaceful needs.

A ragged army of 300,000 German men, women and children has been drafted by the Russians and their German Communist front men to dig the ore, basis of atomic weapons, the British statement said.

A detailed 5,000-word description of the Soviet uranium activity in East Germany ever since it started in 1946 was issued by British Control Commission authorities who conclude:

"The Russians have recently intensified to a scale hitherto unknown in peacetime their frantic drive in East Germany aimed at producing a maximum of uranium regardless of waste in manpower and material.

"The mines are being worked 24 hours a day...

"The only beneficiaries of this extravagant drive are the Russians. The East German economy gets nothing out of it but is even disrupted by the inexhaustible demands.

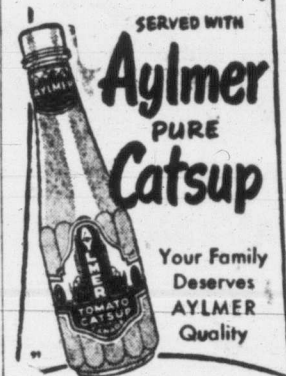

"It is scarcely to be believed that this frantic drive, the complete disregard for the needs of East German reconstruction, the mass exploitation of large numbers of East Germans, are necessary to satisfy Russia's normal industrial requirements. It can only be concluded that the Russians are in urgent need of uranium for purposes other than peaceful reconstruction."

The statement described the activities of the Soviet monopoly which runs the uranium workings in the Russian zone. It is named the Wismuth A.G. with an all-Russian directorate, its own staff of 5,000 N.K.V.D. (secret police) agents, immunity before all German courts, power of life and death over the miners, authority to take over any village or property and unlimited access to East German funds.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY

"I once saw a fellow go down on a hand like this," said Pessimistic Pete reflectively.

"That was probably 15 years ago and he misplayed the hand," said West. "How about giving us a break and playing this hand in less than 40 minutes flat?"

Pete paid no attention to his opponent, but looked carefully for a way to make his contract against bad breaks.

After some thought, he saw the proper line of play.

West had opened the queen of diamonds, and Pete, playing the South hand, won with the ace. Most players would then lead the queen of hearts to begin the trumps, but it is not in Pete's nature to take immediate action of any kind. In view of what happened, it is a good thing this time that he was cautious.

At the second trick, Pete led the nine of clubs from his hand. West won with the king of clubs and returned the suit, dummy winning with the queen. (West suspected that South had no more diamonds and saw no reason to give dummy a free entry by way of a diamond lead.)

Having arrived in dummy, Pete returned the deuce of hearts. East played the eight, and Pete won with the ten. When West showed out, Pete realized that he had saved his contract by leading the first trump from the dummy.

South could get to dummy with a club to lead a second trump. East would play low, allowing South to win with the ten.

Now, however, if South tried to enter dummy by ruffing a club, there would be no more trumps to lead from dummy through East.

South could get to dummy with a club to lead a second trump. East would play low, allowing South to win with the ten.

Now, however, if South tried to enter dummy by ruffing a club, there would be no more trumps to lead from dummy through East.

Since another trump lead from the North hand was required, Pete led the ace of clubs and ruffed with dummies three of hearts. He then returned the four of hearts from the dummy.

It didn't matter what East played on his trick. If he played the nine, South would win and concede two tricks to the ace and king. If East put up the king, South would retain the queen and jack to clear up the trumps.

It is important to note that South would have lost his contract if he had led the queen of hearts from his hand at the second trick. East would win with the king of hearts and return a spade.

THE STORY: "Doc" Fortson, village pharmacist, might be called nosy, but it's because he likes people. He especially likes Betsy Sharpe, his cashier, but Betsy is deeply in love with Roger Blessen, the postman. Roger became a postman only recently and Doc has just observed, during an incident at his drug store, that Roger is afraid of dogs.

II
Nobody likes to be bitten by a dog, but Roger Blessen's actions were far more disturbing than the bite called for.

My cashier, Betsy Sharpe, looked at me with eyes full of tears. She and Roger were engaged. Roger once had been a math teacher at the high school, but after he received a crack on his head in a car wreck he became a mail carrier. It wasn't the change of jobs a person would expect, but I always suspected that Roger wasn't fond of teaching.

I finally elbowed out of the up-ramp at the cash register to ask Tom Carson what I could do for him. With Greta, his seeing-eye dog, he followed me back to the dog remedies counter with another of Doc Doan's pink slips. He stood there rubbing his chin kind of thoughtful while I weighed out calcium phosphate for his Greta. Doc Doan likes to give it to nervous dogs.

I admired the beautiful big shepherd as she stood at Tom's knees.

"Greta certainly touched off a riot, didn't she?" Tom looked down at her as if he could really see her. "Funny thing, why didn't Ching bite Myra Sharpe instead of Roger?" She was making all the fuss.

That reminded me of the book Mrs. Muchmore had me take my nose out of. I told Tom about it. The psychologists say fear has a unique smell and otherwise peaceful animals will attack without cause a person who gives off the scent of fear.

Tom nodded when I had finished like he'd heard all this before. "How did Roger look when he left the store?" he asked. "Make with the four eyes, Doc."

Everybody in town calls me Doc Four Eyes. Most druggists get the Doc part hung on them and the rest of it was on account of my glasses. Or maybe because I'm snoopy. Anyway, with four eyes I don't miss much. I described Roger. "Stiff back," I said. "Hands balled into fists... a kind of stumbling trot..."

Yeah, he kept looking back over his shoulder, too.

"A perfect picture of fear," Tom said thoughtfully. "But what is he afraid of? I wonder if that head injury..."

On her way to wash off the signs of tears, Betsy heard this remark. She came back of the screen furiously.

"You can just quit wondering about it? Roger is going to be all right! The doctors said so. Just because Aunt Myra thinks they should have kept him longer at the hospital!"

She stopped and glared at Tom. "Roger's going to be all right," she said, her voice daring us to think anything different.

Tom's eyebrows went up. "Your Aunt Myra thinks Roger isn't quite..."

Betsy nodded miserably, forgetting that Tom couldn't see her.

It was hard to remember that Tom Carson was blind—hard for everybody in town. Tom had been halfway through medical school when he lost his sight and came home. But he didn't ask for any sympathy about it. With Greta to help him get around, he was establishing an insurance business.

Tom asked another question then. "Did the doctors at the hospital suggest outdoor work for Roger? Is that why he took this post office job?"

Betsy's blue eyes grew rounder. "How did you guess? It took me days to get that out of Roger. He won't talk about his injury at all."

Tom smiled a little. "It seems fairly obvious that handling high school kids as active as a popper full of corn would hardly be the job for Roger for a while at least."

"Roger thinks he never will be able to teach again," Betsy said despairingly. "And he won't even talk about when we can get married. I tell him I can keep my job here if he feels like a mailman's salary won't be enough, but he won't make any plans. And dogs! Tom, he's simply going to pieces over dogs!"

"You mean Roger Blessen is actually afraid of dogs?" Tom questioned in surprise. "Why?"

"I never noticed about the dogs before Roger was hurt," Betsy said. "I remember that he didn't much like Prince, Grandfather's old retriever, but neither did I nor Aunt Myra. Prince was so old and cross with everybody except Grandfather it was hard to like him. And then Roger just around chucking dogs under the chin. There are plenty of people like that," Betsy wound up defensively. "Normal people, too!"

"Sure," Tom agreed. "Liking dogs has nothing to do with being normal. And the fact that dogs don't like you doesn't make you a villain either. I knew a regular old saint of a minister that any dog handy would take a bite out of. But dogs can certainly make things lively for a postman that doesn't like them. Tempest in a teapot stuff, maybe—no, more like a maelstrom in a mailbox, I guess."

"It is not like a tempest in a teapot," Betsy snapped at him. "And it isn't funny, either!" Then the anger died out of her voice. "I suppose it does look funny. Dogs yapping and tearing Roger's pants and chasing him over fences and up trees. He's been bitten three times already. And he's simply going to pieces. You saw how he acted this morning. He's nervous and irritable and he dreads any noise or confusion..."

"Ataxophobia," Tom diagnosed. "I knew that $5 word. It means fear of noise and uproar. I'd seen it in that rental book."

on the TIMES

By ART STOTT

Remember the story—was it one of Bennett Cerf's—about the battered, bedraggled and belated pigeon? In case you've forgotten it, Mother Pigeon had been out gadding for the afternoon. When she failed to get home at dinner time, Father Pigeon began to worry. The minutes and hours ticked away.

At the edge of dusk, Ma Pigeon staggered into the loft, her feathers bashed about, one eye closed and her beak bent to one side. Father demanded an explanation.

"I dunno how it happened," Ma Pigeon replied. "I was flying home early, minding my own business, and took a shortcut across a lawn. Suddenly I got into the damndest badminton game."

MAYBE IT'S funny, but not for the pigeon. I can't help feeling sorry for her—ever since Tuesday night. Just for a while it looked as if I were going to be the shuttlecock in a little game of marine battledore.

Tuesday it rained and a mean little chop kicked up in the Strait. I'd been out catching cold and dogfish near Trial. I was coming home in the deepening dusk just as innocently as the pigeon, bucking wind and rain with my earflaps down. You don't hear so well with your earflaps down, but when two fishermen in a launch asked me if I wanted a tow, I heard them. I heard their next question, too: "Do you know you're heading into a school of blackfish?"

When you're in a small boat and look over your shoulder at a bunch of killer whales less than a hundred yards away, you don't answer questions like that. You can't. Something plugs up your throat. You're lucky if you can get out a yell or a nervous giggle.

DR. CLIFF CARL, of the Museum, tells me he's never measured any killers longer than 22 feet on this coast, but they've been found over 30 feet long in the Atlantic. It's hard to tell their size in the water. All you see is that big dorsal fin knifing up from the surface, part of the back, and then the dorsal going down. Don't know how high the fins were reaching Tuesday night, but from where I sat, it looked as if the observatory on top of Gonzales was balancing on the tip of one. Perspective, of course.

Dr. Carl tells me that he has no record of killers attacking men. Maybe they don't bother humans, but maybe the killers don't know that. And there's always a first time. Cliff says they're equipped for any kind of attack. Ever see their teeth?

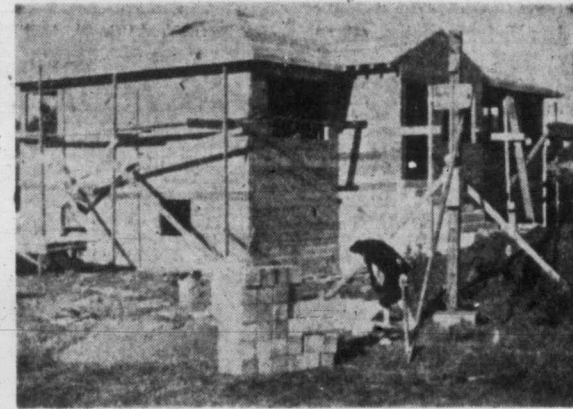

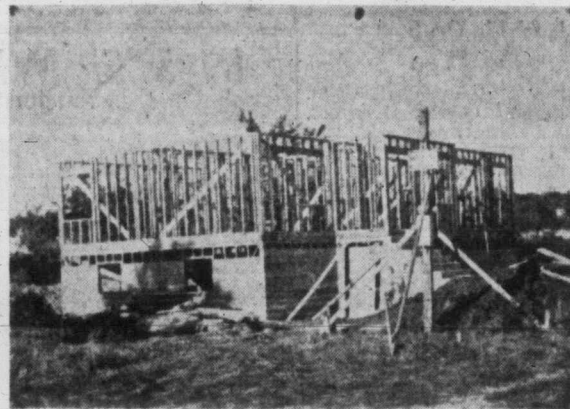

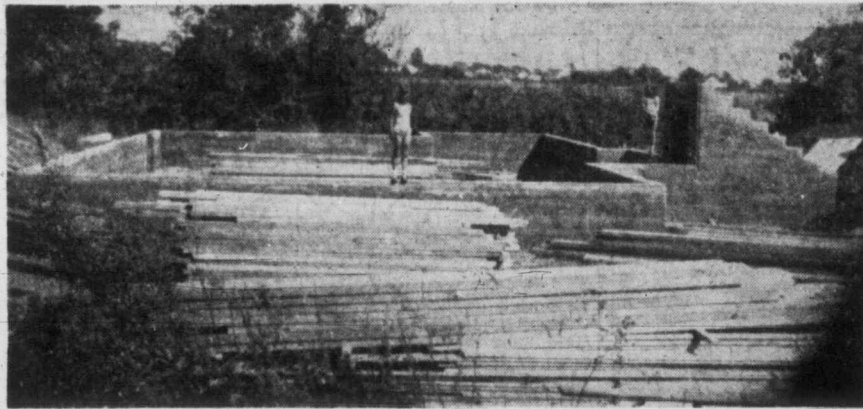

SOME PEOPLE think it's difficult to climb out of a rowboat into a launch in a choppy sea. I never noticed it Tuesday night. Next to Slo-Mo-Shun IV setting a new world record at Seattle last month, my transfer was the fastest thing that's ever happened on the waters of the northwest. Yessir, I was eager.

A fellow doesn't admit he's scared in a spot like that. A boatman sort of brushes it off, says the killers were a fair size, as killers go, and were fairly close. When I settle down in the next day or two, I'll do that, too. Wonder who I'll be kidding?

If you happen to see me looking like a bit thoughtful and shaking like a leaf, you'll understand, of course, that I caught a bit of a chill Tuesday night. It was raining pretty hard out there and the breeze had a nasty whip. I might have caught pneumonia if those fishermen hadn't come along in the launch, bless 'em.

YOU CAN usually get by with summer bathing, while the good woman and the kids are away, if you restrict yourself in the use of dishes, and sleep in a cot. You don't have to make up a cot every morning. One quick pull of the covers and it's okay. And if you stay with one knife, one fork, one spoon and a single cup, plate and saucer, washing up's simple.

Years of study have convinced me that austerity's the thing for bathing. Stick to it and you'd be home free, if it weren't for oil burners. Now an oil burner is a mechanical thing that should yield to masculine manipulations. Even a woman can run one. But when a guy's lit the thing, checked the draughts and gone out, how's he to know that it has quirked up, somehow, and is sifting oil soot all over the kitchen?

Island Dairymen May Seek Milk Price Boost

Expected To Ask Board's Approval If Committee Advises; Opposition Voiced

A committee has been appointed by the Vancouver Island Dairymen's Association to study the question of increasing the price of milk, it was learned today from A. G. Lambriek, president.

Should the committee advise an increase, the association is expected to apply to the Provincial Milk Board to boost the price of milk on Vancouver Island.

The committee was appointed after dairymen discussed the pro's and con's of the question at a meeting held in Victoria. Some dairymen were definitely opposed to milk prices going up and claimed it would result in a drop in sales.

Those in favor felt that a price increase was justified in view of the rising cost of feed and labor.

Square dancing on the greens of Central Park will begin tonight at 8.30, weather permitting, according to an announcement by the city park's department, co-sponsor of the event with the Y.M.C.A.

Movies will be held at Beacon Hill Park tonight after dark. The parks department and Victoria Film Council sponsor the show.

Robs Hotel Register
A thief took $57.25 from the cash register at the St. James Hotel early this morning. Police said a thief entered the lobby while Roy Larkin, night clerk, was checking upstairs floors, and forced the cash drawer open.

As a result of an accident Tuesday on Helmcken Road, Atma Singh, Dodd, Langford, was fined $35 by Magistrate A. I. Thomas in Mounted Police court Wednesday afternoon. He pleaded guilty to careless driving. His license was suspended for three months.

Remanded For Sentence
David Montana, formerly of Vancouver, who pleaded guilty to passing worthless cheques in city police court Wednesday, was remanded to Friday for sentence, by Magistrate A. I. Thomas in city police court today.

He had obtained goods valued at $11.23 and $28 in cash from Jean Burns, Ladies' Wear, by false pretences.

Too Many Drivers Without Licenses
Margaret Leuesque, 1035 Oliphant Avenue, was fined $35 in city police court today. She was charged with driving without a license.

Prosecutor Claude Harrison remarked on the increase of this offence in the city lately. He asked Magistrate A. I. Thomas to levy the usual fine, saying that too many people are going without licenses these days.

September Set For Finishing Seawall Work

Construction repairs to Dallas Road seawall are expected to be completed by the end of September, providing there is no slow-up of materials owing to the present rail strike.

Work is progressing well, according to Cyril Jones, city engineer, who said today there had been no setbacks owing to tides or weather to date.

"However if the strike goes on for any length of time, it might cause a delay, particularly of pipe," he said.

The city public works department who are handling the repairs are expecting some pipe to arrive on Friday. Whether it will or not, is not known, Mr. Jones said.

Record 'Confession' Boomerangs On Youth

A phoney "confession" this week backfired on two juvenile-age boys who tried to steer police onto the trail of innocent people for a shopbreaking.

The aftermath of the unsuccessful move was their appearance before the magistrate in juvenile court yesterday when they pleaded guilty to the robbery. They will be sentenced next Wednesday.

It happened this way: While police were investigating the downtown store entry, Police Chief John Blackstock received a parcel in the mail containing five small records.

He played them. A clear, boy's

Spirit Of Adventure Called

Four-thousand-mile journey by bicycle from Brantford, Ont., to Victoria took Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Savage just over 10 weeks. They have been married two years and were settling down when the spirit of adventure caught them.

Cyclists From Ontario Fall In Love With City

Charmed by Victoria, a young Brantford, Ont., couple have decided to forget about the second half of what was to have been an 8,000-mile round trip by bicycle.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Savage have made up their minds to remain here after seeing a great deal of this country during the 4,000-mile pedal journey from the east.

Though in the city only a few days, Cyril, a forest engineer, has a job with B.C. Forest Products and intends to get a home as soon as he can. The couple now are staying with their aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Savage, 420 Grange Road.

In their opinion, Canadians in the west are "more Canadian" and seem to have a greater pride in their nationality.

"The roads? Well, they're good and bad in every province. They seem to be further behind in Saskatchewan than in any other place," was Cyril's reply. "The Hope-Princeton Highway was probably the best all around road we were on. Except for its hairpin turns it's a wonderful road and the scenery is beautiful."

The cost of travel was more expensive than one would think. "It would probably be cheaper to fly across the continent, since you are on the road so long on a bike."

NO RUN FOR FIRST FIRE JOB

The new No. 3 Saanich firehall on Shelbourne Street was in service for the first time Wednesday afternoon. It was brought to them at the firehall.

A. Rouse, Torquay Drive, driving on Shelbourne noticed sparks coming from under the hood of his 1928 model car. He drove right to the firehall.

Lieut. Robert Mortimer and another fireman on duty quickly put out smoldering wires.

Extra Flights Make Up For Fog Washout

Fog necessitated the cancellation of Trans-Canada Air Lines' first scheduled flight to Vancouver at 7 this morning and delayed the first scheduled flight to Seattle by one hour.

An extra afternoon flight was added to the day's schedule to take care of passengers left behind this morning.

Altogether, 20 outbound flights were arranged for today, carrying 560 persons. A similar number of planes are incoming, with a like number of passengers.

There are nine regular flights going to Vancouver and eight added flights. One extra flight has been added to the Seattle schedule, bringing the number of outbound flights to three.

Trans-Canada Air Lines is continuing to bring in essential foodstuffs for the island through its air cargo service, including daily shipments of cream.

Good Response But Still Need Blood Donors

Despite the fact Victorians rallied Wednesday to donate 321 pints of blood to the Red Cross Mobile Blood Transfusion Service, society officials said there was still a pressing need for blood.

The province's hospitals consumed 100 pints of blood daily, it was pointed out.

However, officials stated they were more than happy with Wednesday's results.

"We figured we were being optimistic in calling for 300 donors," one spokesman said.

The rail strike has seriously affected the society's blood transfusion service, limiting its mobility. It took three chartered planes to fly technicians and equipment into the city to set up Wednesday's mobile unit.

Aorangi Here Friday

The Canadian-Australasian Line's Mv. Aorangi is scheduled to dock at Ogden Point Friday morning at 7 with a full list of passengers.

After unloading passengers, freight and mail here, the ship will proceed to Vancouver.

Cates Says Matter Will Be Taken Up With Labor Relations Board

Labor Minister John Cates today promised a Victoria and District Trades and Labor Council delegation consideration will be given a brief opposing existing policies in the taking of strike votes.

The delegation, consisting of Charles Peck, president of the council; Percy Rayment, secretary, and Thomas Gooderham, T.L.C. organizer for Vancouver Island, discussed the question with the minister fully.

"I will take the matter up with members of the Labor Relations Board," Mr. Cates told them. The labor council's criticism of present methods in the taking of strike votes stems from a vote of carpenters in this area last month.

TAKEN BY COMPANIES
The vote was taken by companies. Employees of some firms voted to strike while others voted to stay at work.

The delegation argued effectiveness of strike action on the part of union was lost and that the system could result in illegal strikes.

It was intended originally that the brief be presented by a joint delegation of members from the Vancouver Trades and Labor Council and the Victoria group. Vancouver members were unable to obtain plane reservations to be on hand.

Unemployment Increase Not Yet Noticed At N.E.S.

While the railway strike had not yet seriously affected employment in Victoria there were indications that layoffs would increase next week due to the transportation tie-up, according to C. A. Mudge, manager of the National Employment Service office here.

"We had a few additional persons register for unemployment insurance benefits this week," he said. "The increase in unemployment was hardly noticeable."

Mr. Mudge said the office was prepared to handle any increase in the number of applicants for insurance benefits. He expected the jobless to increase if the rail strike was prolonged for any length of time.

Normally, employment was at its peak around this time of year, Mr. Mudge said. Last week unemployment was reduced considerably due to demands for skilled men for the construction industry.

$900 Damage, No Injuries In Car Collisions

About $900 damage was done to cars, but no one was hurt in four vehicle collisions on city streets late Wednesday.

Cars driven by Douglas E. Pearsall, R.R.3, and Thomas R. Spencer, 710 Cormorant, collided at Gorge and Rock Bay causing $250 vehicle damage.

Damage was done to cars driven by Janine Westgarth, Vancouver, and Victor Connor, 3825 Cambridge.

Approximately $250 damage was done to each of the cars driven by Morris E. Ritchie, 62 Gorge Road East, and Weer Singh Bains, 825 Roderick, when they met at Bay and Bridge Streets.

Cars driven by Robert R. Garner and Gladys Beasley, 1118 Bay, collided at Cook and North Park Streets. About $150 damage was done to the Beasley car.

MARY HAWORTH'S MAIL

Foreign-Born Mother Who Contributed To Daughter's Professional Rise, Shattered By Her Aloofness Since Marriage

Dear Mary Haworth: The problem is my daughter Peggy, 25. Since she got married 10 months ago, she hasn't been home more than 10 times, and this includes necessary trips to collect wedding gifts, clothes. We have a large home, so sleeping over wouldn't be a problem, but the visits are hurried as well as spaced, and even holidays and birthdays are skipped.

Eldest child and only daughter, Peg was the most privileged of our children. Newcomers to this country, my husband and I worked hard to give her an expensive education and post-graduate training, that led to a respectable well-paid position.

Mary Haworth

In her first year of training she was dated and loved by an outstanding boy, but nothing was said of marriage. In her first job she met Dan—serious-minded, college-trained, fairly well situated—who soon asked her to marry him. She was months making up her mind, and we didn't try to influence her. But perhaps we hoped she would wait until he former beau would be ready to propose.

THINKS SON-IN-LAW SPLITS FAMILY

We saw little of Dan during the courtship and he was always inhibited in our company. When Peg brought him home as her fiancé I admit the welcome wasn't too hearty. During the engagement their visits were few.

When I tried to talk with Peg about their strange behavior—they live only an hour's drive away—she said I'd always influenced her too strongly and she had to feel completely independent of me now. But I think Dan is the reason for not coming. He feels uncomfortable in our home and company. Do you think our cool reception in the beginning hurt his feelings, so that he cannot forgive and forget?

I am 49, very busy with my

BABY'S UPSET STOMACH QUICKLY CORRECTED

BABY'S little "tummy" is often easily upset. It is easily righted again, too, if you know just how to do it. Let Mrs. M. S. Alway, of London, Ont., tell you: "Baby's Own Tablets are a great help at the first sign of upset stomach, during teething time or when a cold is coming on. They work quickly yet gently to carry away poisons and promote restful comfort." And Mrs. W. R. Sharp says: "I nursed my baby shortly after being alarmed over a motor accident and her stomach became quite upset. I gave her Baby's Own Tablets and she soon stopped crying—and quieted down."

Equally effective for teething troubles, constipation, simple fever. Sweet-tasting, easily crushed to a powder. If desired—prompt in action. No "sleepy" stuff—no irritating effect. Buy a box today for sickness so often striking in the night—29 cents.

profession, social life, golf and youngest child still at home. Until now I had considered myself well-balanced and easy to get along with; but my self-confidence is shattered. Am I a failure? P. G.

MOM'S ATTITUDE IS HER PROBLEM

Dear P. G.: It seems to me that your attitude is the problem, really. I think you have thriven-Peggy away, by two dynamic emotional pressures. The first pressure has to do with intense unconscious desire to share all her experiences, by keeping her under close observation or completely communication. And the second has to do with your latterday dislike and rejection of Dan, which you cannot conceal.

Your closing question—"Am I a failure?"—puts the finger on your vampire proclivities. I've observed that control-seeking mothers, wrestling for renewed grip on grown children who are fighting to get weaned, usually try to snaffle them with that beat.

Human nature instinctively feels the value of privacy, in the sensitive uncertain matter of trying to insure a spirit of unity at the outset of a mate-love relationship. The social permissions of the engagement period and honeymoon were developed in civilized deference to this canny sense that third-party surveillance can be the destroyer in the Garden of Eden. And I dare say Peggy's aloofness since getting engaged is a case of obeying sound instinct in dealing with you.

MOTHER HASN'T BEEN FAILURE

She is enormously consequential to you, in the sense of your feeling almost that she is an indispensable part of your very self, not a separate person. Thus you got unduly involved emotionally in her choice of husband, evaluating Dan with your feelings—not your head—as if he might have been a distasteful candidate for your hand.

No doubt you are a powerful personality, and halfway measures of defense never would prevail against you. I think Peggy is telling the whole truth from her viewpoint in saying you've always influenced her too strongly at close range, just by the natural force of your great affinity for each other. And if she has the sense and strength to resist that trend since being married, you may congratulate yourself that you haven't failed in rearing her. You have brought her to the boundaries of maturity and when you are able to say sincerely "Godspeed," you may find her again in the field of friendship any day.

M. H. Mary Haworth counsels through her column, not by mail or personal interview. Write her in care of The Victoria Daily Times.

When children are on the loose, almost anything is apt to happen—and usually does. Little ones crawling on the floor pick up any dropped object and put it in their mouths. In most cases any indigestible object makes its slow way through their intestines and is evacuated. It is well, when the object is large or pointed, to let the doctor know immediately and let him decide whether to let nature take its own time or to interfere.

TODAY'S RECIPE

CALVES' TONGUES

Four cups water, 1/2 teaspoon dried celery leaves or celery salt, 1 onion, sliced, 2 carrots, 1 bay leaf, 6 to 8 pepper corns, 1 1/2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon vinegar, 2 calves' tongues, 2 teaspoons flour, 2 teaspoons cold water, salt and pepper to taste, 1 teaspoon grated horseradish.

Boil together for three minutes the water, celery leaves, onion, carrots, bay leaf, peppercorns, salt and vinegar. Lower temperature to simmering and add calves' tongues. Continue to simmer until tongues are tender, about 1 1/2 hours. Remove skin. Strain stock and thicken with flour, which has been mixed to a smooth paste in the cold water. Add salt and pepper to taste and grated horseradish. Yield: six servings.

This velvet helmet is worn with matching, double-strapped handbag for fall.

You'll Wear Velvet For Fall

Eye-catching, pixy-like headgear... bright ascots... elegant gloves... dresses, jumpers and suits... all will be in velvet for fall.

Gay, shining wisps of velvet will point up wool and gabardine fall and winter frocks, outlining necklines, fashioning long pointed collars and deep cuffs, marching proudly down the front of trim suits in smart contrasting buttons.

Most notable opener of the velvet season in Victoria are the adorable, jewel-studded caps shown in local stores.

These low-priced chapeaux (high-priced too, if you want to be very exclusive) are shown in ever-popular cloches, and helmets and Dutch caps especially good with short coiffures. Many of them sport bands of sparkling, colorful trims—pearls, brilliants, rubies—and a dazzling array of other bright stones. Most popular colors are black, emerald green, purple.

Flattened bowl-like tams, that sit at a perky angle on the head, are shown in velvet; deep rose, grey, blue and black.

Elegant ties and ascots in velvet match the pert headgear. I've even noticed one or two smart misses, with wide velvet cuffs attached to their gloves.

Adding the complementary touch to an attractive velvet accessory ensemble, are velvet-covered handbags. Some resemble tiny square boxes outlined in gold. Others are flattened, or pouch-like with long slim shoulder straps.

In the novel accessory line, suede runs a close second to velvet with hats, purses and gloves presented in many hues of this fabric.

Although the season has not yet begun, velvet accessories are fast disappearing off store counters, a local saleswoman told me.

When it comes to suits, elegant or simple, velvet reigns supreme.

And what could be more elegant than black velvet fashioned into a sleek suit, with buttons, clasps, or brooch in brilliant contrast?

For the younger set, there are slender princess style jumpers, that can be partnered with full-sleeved blouses of any number of dressy fabrics—sheer nylons, smooth silks and gleaming satins.

In the casual mood, are velvet corduroy suits which many of our local stores are offering us for fall—Rich autumn tonings—burnished golds, leaf greens, and arbutus browns are most popular.

These corduroy models are listed from $20 to $40, and are fashioned with very slim skirts topped with jackets in finger-length or slightly below finger-length.

You can mix 'em or match 'em in velvet too. There are a host of smart jackets, either full-backed or fitted that can be beautifully paired with equally smart velvet corduroy skirts.

Canadians Help Keep Greek Children Alive, Dr. Hitschmanova Reports

OTTAWA (CP)—"Many Greek babies will not die this winter, thanks to Canadian generosity," reported Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, Canadian Director of the Unitarian Service Committee, following a trip through Greece.

Dr. Hitschmanova jeered over the ravaged Grecian countryside distributing blankets, clothing and food to hundreds of villages which had been desolated by successive invasions of Italians, Germans and guerrillas.

After the victory of the Greek nationalist army last November, she said, the government achieved something very near a miracle. It repatriated about 700,000 refugees to their villages and now provides 18 pounds of flour per person per month, and wherever possible, shelter, animals, farm equipment, seeds and fertilizers.

Dr. Hitschmanova's job was to assist in this rehabilitation by distributing 42,000 pounds of relief supplies contributed by Canadian families to the Unitarian Service Committee.

"My greatest thrill," said Dr. Hitschmanova, "came when I visited the tiny village of Karporo in Western Macedonia."

CANADIAN LAYETTES "There we distributed two large cases of new Canadian layettes to all expectant mothers of the village and to all babies under one year of age. You cannot imagine the thrill you feel when you hand over to a young mother, for that baby which she held in her arms in rags and half naked, lovely Canadian blue and pink flannelette diapers, a nightgown and some woolies."

"Tears of gratitude and excitement—never shall I forget them, and I just wish I could bring this wonderful feeling of satisfaction back to the many hundreds of Canadian mothers whose diligent fingers sewed these precious gifts."

Besides the layettes Dr. Hitschmanova distributed woolen blankets, shoes, men's coats, children's clothing, women's wear and stockings.

Before 1940 the village's 120 families had owned 8,000 sheep and goats, 1,500 cows, 1,000 pigs and 150 horses. The families moved back into the town following the wars, too late to plant crops and will have to depend on the government to keep them alive during the winter.

Dr. Hitschmanova said: "I remembered all the effort it had taken to get this lovely Canadian clothing here to this desolate village. It was sent by some kind-hearted Canadians to collection centres; repaired there, packed, stencilled and shipped

Honorary Colonel Entertains Officers And Wives At Late Afternoon Reception

Gorgeous colorings of late summer flowers, cleverly arranged in formal bouquets, made an attractive background for the 5-to-7 reception yesterday at Government House given by His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Banks for officers of the Canadian Scottish Regiment (Princess Mary's) and their wives. His Honor is honorary colonel of the regiment. Gladioli, phlox and multi-colored sweet peas were used in the white and gold drawing-room where His Honor and Mrs. Banks received their guests. Deep-toned zinnias were placed on refreshment tables in the state dining-room and in the entrance hall. Potted begonias and fuchsias were a bright contrast against dark panelling of the walls. In the dining-room His Honor spoke briefly to his guests, bringing greetings from Princess Mary, the regiment's colonel-in-chief, whom he and Mrs. Banks met several times on their visit in England. Col. Ronald Kingham and Lieut. Gar Dixon acted as aides-de-camp for the afternoon.

Mrs. Moore's Coffee Party Honors Sisters-In-Law

Mrs. W. Stanley Moore entertained at a coffee party yesterday at her home, 1823 Beach Drive, in honor of her sisters-in-law, Mrs. Dudley F. Pegrum, Los Angeles, and Mrs. R. H. Pegrum, Buffalo.

Mrs. Dudley Pegrum and her husband, Dr. F. Pegrum, are staying at Clive Apartment Hotel, and Dr. and Mrs. R. H. Pegrum are guests at Windsor Auto Courts.

Maeford Wilson Feted

September bride-elect Miss Maeford Wilson was honored recently when Miss Mary Duncan and Miss Margaret Loudoun, who will attend her as bridesmaids, entertained at the home of the latter with a miscellaneous shower.

Gifts were contained in a decorated ship in compliment to the groom-elect, Lieut. D. F. Slocombe, R.C.N. The guest of honor was presented with a gardenia and white heather corsage bouquet. Her mother, Mrs. A. Wilson, and mother of the groom-elect, Mrs. F. Slocombe, received corsage bouquets of pink rosebuds and heather.

Guests included Mesdames W. Duncan, J. Loudoun, W. R. Loudon, A. McCulloch, N. Graham, D. Leggett, K. MacNeill, E. S. Baker, D. Woodhouse, A. Walker, E. Peck, P. Macdonald, A. Wright and Misses Pat Greer, Elizabeth Foote, Joan Bate, Doreen Olson and Helen Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Brian L. Reid of Tisdale, Sask., are spending a few days in the city, and are guests at Empress Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Moreton, Vancouver, have been visiting Mr. Moreton's mother, Mrs. James Moreton, "Creswood," Arbutus Road.

Miss Nora Turnbull, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Turnbull, Vancouver, will be guest of Mrs. Peter Barr at her Rockland Avenue home for the next few days.

Dr. and Mrs. Maitland Young, Humber Road, and Mrs. Harland Knowles of this city were among guests at the marriage in Vancouver earlier this week of the former Miss Grace Helen White to Mr. Bruce Arnold Robinson.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Corbett of Capilano Heights, Vancouver, are spending three weeks' holiday at Ganges, Salt Spring Island, where they are visiting the former's mother and stepfather, Lt.-Col. and Mrs. Desmond Crofton.

Capt. and Mrs. J. S. Clarke and their daughter, Miss Betty Clarke of Vancouver, have been staying at Forbidden Plateau Lodge recently. Other guests include Mrs. Maud Millicamp, Toronto, and her daughter, Miss Helen Millicamp, who is principal of Bishop Strachan School, Toronto.

Mrs. Howard Knott and her daughters, Misses Dorene and Beverley Knott entertained at a miscellaneous shower Tuesday afternoon at their home, 1270 Rockland Avenue, in honor of Miss Pat Bayliss. The honor guest, who will marry Mr. Frederick William Smith, Friday evening, was presented with a corsage bouquet of gladioli. Her mother, Mrs. W. A. Bayliss, and Mrs. A. E. Smith, received corsage bouquets of carnations. A wishing well held shower gifts. Pastel-toned sweetpeas flanked by pale pink candles centred the tea table where Mrs. Bayliss presided. Guests numbered 22.

OF PERSONAL INTEREST

Mrs. D. J. Dunlop and her two children, Maureen and Cyril, who motored to Victoria earlier this month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Callan, 927 Linkleas Avenue, from her home in Saskatchewan, will visit this city until the end of September before returning by plane to Saskatchewan.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hackett and Mr. Hackett Sr., who motored north from San Francisco to visit Mrs. Agnes Dods, Sooké, left for the United States again yesterday afternoon aboard the Ss. Chinook. They were accompanied by Mrs. Dods who will be their guest in California for the next few months.

Honoring Miss Edith Payne, a September bride-elect, Mrs. Percy Boorman and Mrs. Ross Sturgeon entertained at a miscellaneous shower at their home on Shelbourne Street. Miss Payne was presented with a corsage bouquet of pink carnations, and her mother received yellow roses. Gifts were concealed in a box decorated in pink and green. Games were played, winners being Mrs. Charleton and Mrs. K. Middleton. Others invited were Mesdames M. Mallett, A. Rabbitt, F. Jennings, K. Jennings, Hudson, G. Dennison, W. Jennings and C. Estlin.

In honor of Miss Jean Markland whose marriage to Mr. Earl Tucker takes place this Saturday, Misses Francis Rowbotham and Gladys Bool entertained at the home of the latter on Westdown Road. A corsage bouquet of carnations and roses was presented to the honor guest and gladioli corsage bouquets to her mother, Mrs. E. G. Markland and Mrs. S. W. Tucker, mother of the groom-elect. During the evening Miss Markland also received a fireside companion set. Refreshments were served with Mrs. C. Drager presiding at the urns. Others present were Mesdames H. Bool, M. Johnson, B. Tallack, S. Paradise, M. Murray, Misses Rea Drager, Audrey Bool, Norma Balfour, Joyce Folbigg, Trudy Mangin, Robin and Virginia Strettan, Mary Church and Jean McMillan.

Youngest married officer in the regiment, Lieut. F. A. Vye, gets a last-minute briefing from his wife before going into the drawing-room to meet His Honor and Mrs. Banks.

Oregon Home Awaits Bride Maureen Shirley Clements

Robert David Brown will take his bride, Maureen Shirley Clements to a home in Salem, Ore., following their up-island motor trip.

They were married Aug. 18, at 8, in St. John's Anglican Church by Canon George Biddle.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Clements, 3328 Wordsworth Street, was gown in slipper satin for the occasion.

The full-skirted model, slightly in train, featured off-shoulder effect gained with sheer yoke. The bride chose a beaded coronet to hold her fingertip veil, and she wore her groom's gift of pearls. White gladioli and scarlet roses composed her crescent bouquet.

Four maids in attendance were attractive contrasts in their pastel-hued gowns.

Maid of honor "Tiny" Bacon, wore primrose yellow nylon net over taffeta, complemented with brief matching net veil held by pink carnations. Bridesmaids were Miss Ruby Atkinson in pale pink, Miss Joan Bacon, in sea-foam green, and Miss Elaine Moore, in pale blue. Their taffeta gowns were styled alike with very full skirts.

All carried Colonial bouquets, and wore brief net veils held with bandeaux of pink carnations.

The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Brown, Salem, was attended by Dale Van Laanen, also of the Oregon city. Ushering were Don Bassett, Salem; Charles P. Walker, Victoria; and Eric Gamwell, Calgary.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown welcomed guests, assisted by their parents, in Kings Road Hall. Garden flowers created the setting, and the newlyweds cut a three-tier cake. E. Turner gave the bride's toast.

The bride wore a three-piece navy blue suit, with crisp white accessories, and gardenia and rosebuds in corsage for her wedding trip.

'Plus Fitty' Folk Make Versatile Sitters, Many Odd Situations

TORONTO (CP) — Are you over 50 and a bit bored with life? If so, you might try joining Toronto's Plus Fitty Club that makes a practice of tackling odd assignments.

The 350 club members — all women of 50 or over — help supplement their incomes by playing baby sitters to dogs; sleeping in empty houses, and arguing with elderly people on purpose.

The club, formed six years ago, is the outgrowth of the Baby Sitters Club, Reg'd., founded by the same group of women. The baby sitters found they were being swamped with calls that had nothing to do with either babies or sitting, so they decided to form a second group.

Mrs. Olga I. Lee, secretary of both clubs, says the plus fitties get some very odd assignments.

"One client wanted us to get someone to look after his great Dane while he was away on holidays. The dog was very temperamental so a person had to be picked who liked dogs and vice-versa."

Lonesome elderly people are always asking Mrs. Lee for someone to talk with. One elderly man asked for a "visitor" who'd argue politics with him.

Another popular request during the summer months is for "house sitters" to sleep in vacant houses while the owners are away — just so they'll be less inviting to burglars.

Qualifications for membership in the Plus Fitty Club come pretty high.

"We are most particular about our staff," says Mrs. Lee. "Only refined, educated and personable women are chosen. They all have to be recommended to us by a clergyman or some other reliable person."

The club, in turn, is choosy about the chores its members undertake. Only calls from desirable districts are accepted and if the client doesn't sound suitable, he or she is politely told: "Sorry, but we are too busy to help you at the moment."

Red China Demands U.S. Leave Formosa

Radio Broadcast Says Invasion Of Nationalist Island Coming

TOKYO (AP)—The Chinese Communists today (Friday) demanded that the United Nations order withdrawal of all American forces from Formosa and announced the Red intention to "liberate" that island from the Nationalists.

295 Homes For Victoria Area In Huge Plan

VANCOUVER (CP)—Tenders for one of the largest home-building projects in recent years—probably to exceed $4,000,000 in value—are being called by Central Mortgage and Housing Corp. The project will provide nearly 800 units for Vancouver Island and the mainland, some of those canceled last June when original estimates fell below bids received.

Military homes comprise the majority of the units but 30 or more are planned for civilians. Belmont Park at Victoria will draw 280 navy homes.

There are 15 more at Esquimalt, 55 at Chilliwack and 110 more for the lower mainland—all these being previously canceled projects.

The tense situation was said cause of the large military allocation.

Baseball Today

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Philadelphia bunched three hits, including a triple by Granny Hamner, for a three-run lead in the third inning today and then coasted to a 4 to 2 victory over Pittsburgh as Bubba Church held the Pirates to five scattered bingles.

BOSTON (AP)—Junior Stephens' grand-slam homer with two out in the ninth enabled Boston Red Sox to stretch their winning streak to 10 straight games today with a 6 to 2 decision over St. Louis Browns. Roy Sievers accounted for both of the Browns' tallies with a sixth-inning homer against Walt Materson.

CHICAGO (AP)—Bob Elliott drove in the 1,000th and 1,001 runs of his career today as Boston Braves defeated Chicago Cubs 11 to 9.

First Game—R. H. E.
Chicago 9 12 1
Boston 11 14 1
Sunkent Hogue (9) and Cooper Minner, Lade (7), Leonard (9) and Owen.

NEW YORK (AP)—Detroit Tigers, beaten two straight by New York Yankees, came from behind today to whip their tormentors 6 to 3 and increase their American League lead to 2½ games. George Kell's two-run single with the bases loaded in the seventh inning put Detroit ahead to stay.

R. H. E.
Detroit 6 11 1
New York 3 9 1
Newhouse and Swift, Robinson (7), Byrne, Sanford (7), Page (7) and Berra.

Happy About War

HONGKONG (Reuter)—British troops appear to be happy about leaving Hongkong and going into action in Korea.

This spirit was shown when a party of Argyle and Sutherland Highlanders wanted to go into town for a final spree.

Permission was given, but they were warned that anyone getting into the guard house for misbehaviour would not be allowed to go to Korea.

They all decided not to go to town.

Heavily Armed Red Division Pusan Threat

Bombing, Strafing Enemy Movement

TOKYO (AP)—A heavily-armed Red Korean division rolled eastward Thursday night toward American positions on the Korean south coast, posing a new threat to the Allied port of Pusan, some 50 miles away.

The threat appeared in the south after pressure had eased on the central front north of Taegu, where feelers for five Red divisions were thrown back for five consecutive days.

Reuter news agency reported that American and South Korean troops had advanced in limited attacks at both ends of the front. The Communists were shoved back west of Masan, near the south coast, and northwest of Taegu, the agency said.

U.S. planes bombed and strafed the approaching Reds in the south. The Communists were moving in small groups to minimize their chances of being hit from the air.

The sudden, unexplained shift of North Korean troops north of Taegu left their mountain positions to allied troops, 13 miles north of the fortress city. Before setting in them Thursday night U.S. and South Korean infantrymen beat off flanking attacks.

Warrior Sails For Far East

GLASGOW (Reuter)—The 13,350-ton Royal Navy light fleet carrier Warrior, packed with naval aircraft, sailed today for the Far East.

This is the second British Carrier to leave for Korea in the last week. The Thebes, sister ship to the Warrior, left Portsmouth last Friday.

The Warrior, lent to Canada in 1946 and returned to Britain two years later, was refitted last year with an experimental flexible rubberized deck for the use of jet fighters fitted with skids.

Coal Production Up 8,000 Tons

There was an increase of over 8,000 tons of coal produced in the province last month over that of July last year, it was learned today from the provincial Department of Mines.

Production in July this year was 120,539 tons, while in the same month of 1949 it was 112,289 tons.

Vancouver Island mines were nearly 12,000 tons below last year's production, though. There were 34,898 tons mined on the island this year compared with 46,835 in July last year.

Follows Union Offer On New Negotiations

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent today called in major figures in the railway wage dispute for personal conferences with himself and ministers Friday.

An announcement from the Prime Minister's office said he would meet union and railway chiefs separately in his office Friday morning and afternoon.

The conferences will be attended by Transport Minister Chevrier and Labor Minister Gregg.

Mr. St. Laurent and the ministers are to meet at 11 a.m., E.D.T., with Frank Hall, chairman of the joint negotiating committee of international unions involved; A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees (C.C.L.), and some other union officers.

The afternoon meeting at 4 p.m. was to be attended by Donald Gordon, chairman and president of the Canadian National Railways, and W. A. Mather, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The Prime Minister's announcement came shortly after Mr. Mosher had said in an interview here that the 17 unions involved in the general strike that opened Tuesday morning would be willing to resume their negotiations with the railways under a mediator.

(See story, "Rail Strikers," Page Three.)

The cabinet earlier today considered emergency legislation on the rail strike and other matters to be placed before the special parliamentary session.

Prime Minister St. Laurent would give reporters no hint of the government's latest deliberations as he emerged from the 2½-hour meeting.

"We are dealing with everything we feel Parliament should be asked to consider," the Prime Minister said. "However, I cannot tell you what these matters are, since it would be quite unusual for us to give this information to the newspapers before giving it to the members themselves."

NOTE TAUNTS PARENTS OF DEAD SOLDIER

A few days after receiving official notice of their son's death in the Korea fighting, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Kabalen of Cleveland, O., received the note shown below. It says: "Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Kabalen: We want to let you know we are very happy that all Wall Street tools got killed in Korea. Very truly, The American Working People."

Mr. Kabalen's anguished face, at right, shows how much the poison-penned letter has added to his heartbreak. The postmark on the envelope showed that the note had been mailed only a few short hours after the story of Sgt. Kabalen's heroic death appeared in local newspapers.

Quebec Golfer Shoots 5-Under Round In Open

ROYAL MONTREAL GOLF CLUB (CP)—Little Len Harman, pro at the Knowlton, Que., Golf Club, fired a five-under-par 67 today in the first round of the Canadian Open golf championship and led the first 40 finishers in a field of about 200.

Harman was even par 36 for the first nine and on the home trip fired five birdies and four pars for his par-busting score.

As Harman finished, Sam Snead, top-money American pro and installed favorite to win his fourth Canadian Open, belted a tremendous drive down the first fairway. Stan Leonard of Vancouver Marine Drive and Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Texas, were in the same threesome with Snead.

Perfect weather marked the opening of the 72-hole medal tournament that finishes Sunday.

Truck Driver Loses License For Year

A one-year license suspension was imposed against motorist Earl F. S. Cooper, 402 Hillside Avenue, by Magistrate A. I. Thomas in city court Thursday. He was also fined $50. Charge of careless driving followed a $1,100 accident. Cooper had asked that his license be not suspended as he earned his living as a truck driver.

Mr. & Mrs. Joseph Kabalen:

We want to let you know we are very happy that all Wall Street tools got killed in Korea.

Very truly,

The American Working People.
